HISTORIC PROPERTIES of IDAHO PANHANDLE

Big Hank Cabin

This smoke chaser cabin was moved from its original location along the Coeur d'Alene River in the Coeur d'Alene National Forest as a part of the Nation's 1976 Bicentennial celebration. It was built in 1924 by Bill Guernsey and Pete Jackson. The cabin was dismantled and donated to the Museum of North Idaho before being moved to its current location on the North Idaho College campus.

The Big Hank Cabin was one of many cabins used by seasonal fire crews called "Smoke Chasers." During fire season, the Forest Service manned a system of fire lookouts and cabins linked together by pack trails and telephone lines. Lookout spotters would dispatch fire crews when needed. When not fighting fires, the fire crews did trail maintenance. Supplies were packed by mule to lookouts and crews working fire suppression. The use of pack mules was critical during fire season to get supplies and equipment to crews in areas where vehicles could not pass.

OPERATION DOG TAG

OperationDogTag.org

I think Operation Dog Tag is a great program. I don't have a dog presently but they are going to locate a suitable one. I personally hope they can find a female Akita that can help me with many tasks. After I had the privilege of observing the group I could see how ODT helps veterans like us to connect back into society. I think somehow these dogs make life a little easier for those with chronic pain.

Joe Scheffer, being a Vietnam combat vet with the USMC and certified dog trainer, also has the ability to relate with us, so that becomes a win, win situation. We also are able to participate in the training of our own dog and that appeals to me.

I am excited and looking forward to finding my very own four legged "Battle Buddy."

DOG OF THE WEEK

Meet Maxi! I can be a bit shy. However, I would likely do well in a home with a calm, respectful dog that is open to friendship. I especially seem to like smaller dogs as I had a good friend that was a chihuahua! I walk very nicely on a leash. I would do best in a home with lots of pets, however I do chase small animals such as cats and bunnies. I am a bit of a barker when I'm excited or lonely.

Dave Johnson

It's starting to really look like spring. Temperatures are often in the mid-fifties throughout the region, and I am seeing more and more boats being towed to destinations known for good early-season fishing. I brought my boat home last week, and I am making plans to get in on the action.

The annual Quincy Chamber of Commerce Trout Derby is coming this weekend, on the 25th and 26th, and I wanted to check out Burke Lake, to see what I could catch. I was very short on time last Thursday, and only had a half hour to fish. I cast my bait from the platform near the vault toilet and waited for a bite. I ran and took a quick photo of the improved boat launch and dock and then changed my bait and recast. I laid my rod on the short rail at the edge of the platform and took a quick look at what was just down the shore from me. I was close enough to hear my rod sliding across the concrete and got to it before it slipped into the water. Turned out there was a fat, 13 inch rainbow on my hook and he nearly took my whole setup. I think this was a yearling fish from last year's fry plants, and there should be a bunch of them in Burke and Quincy lakes. The Quincy Chamber bought additional fish to be planted just prior to the derby on the 25th and 26th, and a good number are going to be whoppers.

You can get all the details, including where and when you can register for the event by going to my website at www.fishingmagician.com and clicking on the "Something Fishy in Quincy" logo on the Home Page.

I have told people that there are some big rainbow in Potholes Reservoir, and spring is good time to get them. The ice has been off the big reservoir for a while now, so I ran down to give it a try. I set up on what is known as Medicare Beach and cast my bait on sliding sinker rigs as far out as I could. There is a very gradual drop here, and it isn't very deep. I waited and waited and wasn't getting any action. I talked to an angler that was on his way home and he said he just got one bite. He mentioned that the fishing here was very good in October. He sometimes got limits of rainbow and one of them was a 7 pounder.

I stopped at Quincy Lake on my way home and just fished for a half hour. There were several fly fishers on the lake, and when one of them started rowing for shore, saying he hadn't had a bite in two hours, I left, too. This week's photo is of the fly fishers on Quincy Lake.

I am repeating what I told everyone last week, as I received a message from the Bureau of Reclamation. I checked with the folks at the Reclamation District, and they said there was going to be normal levels on Banks this season. Recently the Bureau of Reclamation began pumping water out of Lake Roosevelt into Banks, and that has certainly destabilized the ice. The first area to be impacted is the north end, near Coulee Playland Resort. Potholes Reservoir and Billy Clapp will see the effects of the annual operational activities of the Bureau in March. The agency has begun to operate the Potholes Reservoir/O'Sullivan Dam outlet works. Water has begun to flow into Billy Clapp Reservoir and the Bureau of Reclamation has started operating the Billy Clapp Reservoir Dam outlet works. The Bureau sent out an announcement a couple of weeks ago, and I reported on this in the Spokane Exchange. There has been concern that ice anglers on Banks would be fishing unstable ice and should pack it in for the season. So, no drastic drawn down planned for Banks this year.

I got a follow up message from the Bureau of Reclamation, and they had this to say, "Banks Lake is being operated within the top foot of the normal

5 foot operating range of 1565 to 1570 feet. As irrigation for the Columbia Basin Project turns on this month it may drop below elevation 1569 ft. Generally, Banks Lake drafts to its lowest point at the end of August to elevation 1565 ft or sometimes a bit lower".

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) is inviting public comment on two proposed land acquisitions that would help promote fish and wildlife conservation and access to the great outdoors. The proposal includes about 538 acres in total with acquisitions in Grant and Okanogan counties. One project would conserve about 379 acres at risk of commercial and residential development in partnership with the Methow Conservancy in the Methow watershed. Another project would conserve about 159 acres in the Babcock Bench area of the Columbia Basin Wildlife Area, Quincy Lake Unit. The property provides significant recreational opportunities as well as space to reduce overcrowding in an area popular for rock climbing.

Since 2018, the Lake Roosevelt sturgeon fishery has opened in mid-June and closed at the end of September. In 2023, it will transition to a fall fishery to take advantage of cooler water temperatures which reduce stress on wild adult sturgeon caught by anglers. Changes to other area sturgeon fishing rules will be made as well. As an example, sturgeon reared and released into Lake Roosevelt between 2011-2016 didn't survive as well as those released in earlier years of the project. The 2011-2016 fish are of high conservation value and cannot sustain harvest, so changes to the harvest slot (the size of fish legal to harvest) will be necessary over the next five to seven years to ensure the population is not negatively impacted. Beginning with sturgeon produced in 2017, hatchery fish were larger at the time of release, which generally translates into higher survival. That means a surplus of harvestable sturgeon is once again anticipated as those fish grow into harvestable sizes (likely beginning in 2029 or 2030).

It's spring now, so take advantage of this good weather and get out and get after 'em!

WHY USE A REALTOR®

7 Reasons to Use a REALTOR®

REALTORS® are members of the National Association of REALTORS® and subscribe to its strict Code of Ethics. When you're buying a home, here's what an agent who's a REALTOR® can do for you.

1. Act as an expert guide

Buying a home typically requires a variety of forms, reports, disclosures, and other legal and financial documents. A knowledgeable real estate agent will know what's required in your market, helping you avoid delays and costly mistakes. Also, there's a lot of jargon involved in a real estate transaction; you want to work with a professional who can speak the language.

2. Offer objective information and opinions

A great real estate agent will guide you through the home search with an unbiased eye, helping you meet your buying objectives while staying within your budget. Agents are also a great source when you have questions about local amenities, utilities, zoning rules, contractors, and more.

3. Give you expanded search power

You want access to the full range of opportunities. Using a cooperative system called the multiple listing service, your agent can help you evaluate all active listings that meet your criteria, alert you to listings soon to come on the market, and provide data on recent sales. Your agent can also save you time by helping you winnow away properties that are still appearing on public sites but are no longer on the market.

4. Stand in your corner during negotiations

There are many factors up for discussion in any real estate transaction—from price to repairs to possession date. A real estate professional who's representing you will look at the transaction from your perspective, helping you negotiate a purchase agreement that meets your needs and allows you to do due diligence before you're bound to the purchase.

5. Ensure an up-to-date experience

Most people buy only a few homes in a lifetime, usually with quite a few years between purchases. Even if you've bought a home before, laws and regulations change. Real estate practitioners may handle hundreds or thousands of transactions over the course of their career.

6. Be your rock during emotional moments

A home is so much more than four walls and a roof. And for most buyers, a home is the biggest purchase they'll ever make. Having a concerned, but objective, third party helps you stay focused on the issues most important to you when emotions threaten to sink an otherwise sound transaction.

7. Provide fair and ethical treatment

When you're interviewing agents, ask if they're a REALTOR®, a member of the National Association of REALTORS®. Every member must adhere to the REALTOR® Code of Ethics, which is based on professionalism, serving the interests of clients, and protecting the public.
