Dave Jayne
"The Outdoor Insider"

I talked to someone the other day that asked me if I had heard anything about walleye fishing in the area. It only took me a minute to think about it and say no. Everyone is so focused on salmon fishing right now that reports on the walleye fishing are as rare as hens teeth. (My wife called me an old geezer for using such an old fashioned saying).

I have been the same way, although I haven't managed to get up to fish the Brewster Pool, I am hearing reports of good fishing for sockeye and some kings are being landed.

I have been busy this past week, not fishing but getting ready to hit it hard. Sockeye season on Lake Wenatchee is about to start. There were just over 38,000 sockeye over Tumwater Dam on the 20th, so I know there will be plenty of fish waiting for me.

I have my rods pretty well set up. I use the same rods when fishing for kokanee on Lake Chelan or Lake Roosevelt. Rigged for sliders and lead balls, with line counter reels. These rods already have a long leader from the slider swivels to a swivel that attaches to the dodger. This is important as the dodger needs to be able to swing properly and must be a distance from the lead ball. Next is having a good supply of leaders ready. When sitting down to tie leaders, start with 20 pound fluorocarbon. This material absorbs light, doesn't reflect it so it's invisible in the water. Lake Wenatchee is a barbless hook and no bait fishery, and I have a good supply of 1/0 barbless hooks. I found my leader boards from last season and there is a good variety of different types of leaders. Some have hoochies. Some have Smile Blades. Many are two-hook rigs, but on Lake Wenatchee a three-hook rig is very effective.

I even remembered to put a net in the boat, in fact I put two in, figuring it will be handy to have one ready if we are taking the hooks out of the other one. I don't want to waste any time when the bite is on. I will be moving my boat up to the dock at Rollie Schmitten's, and I have some extra-large bumpers to tie to the dock. A boat could take quite a beating with the wind on Lake Wenatchee, so I am prepared. This week's photo is of anglers returning from sockeye fishing on Lake Wenatchee. I advise caution when moving through channel to the lake as there are some large rocks that need to be avoided. I use my bow mount or tilt my motor up when passing through here.

We are just a couple of weeks away from the biggest salmon derby in Eastern Washington. It's the 17th Annual Brewster King Salmon Derby starting August 4th, and it's shaping up to be a good one. The thermal barrier at the mouth of the Okanogan River is keeping kings and sockeye in the cooler water of the Columbia River, and more and more fish are showing up every day. This accounts for the fact that these derby anglers have the best success of any salmon derby in the state. Once again, derby organizers have attracted a long list of sponsors for the event, and that's what makes it possible for the big cash prizes and the huge amounts of tackle and other products that people can win. Also, there continues to be an emphasis on making sure the kids that participate don't go home empty handed. Fishing families can really appreciate this. There is still time to get tickets and register for the derby. Just log onto www.brewsterkingsalmonderby.com.

I came across an article written by Rob Phillips for the Yakima Herald Republic newspaper. I have known Rob for years, and in fact he is going to join my brother Rick and I to fish for sockeye on Lake Wenatchee. I share his enthusiasm for fly fishing rivers and thought fellow fly fishers would be interested in what he had to say. There is more to this piece and can be read in total by searching the newspaper's web site. "As anglers we are pretty lucky here in the Central Washington area to have so many fishing options available to us. The upper Yakima River has become world famous for its excellent trout fishing, but there are several other streams in the area that also provide some very good fishing. And now, when the temperatures are pushing the upper 90s, there is no better way to cool off then to head up toward White or Chinook Pass and do some wade fishing in one of the streams that flow out of the Cascades. Plus, there are several creeks in the area, including Ahtanum and Cowiche creeks, that provide some good summertime fishing. In the higher elevations, the Tieton, Naches, Bumping, Little Naches, and Rattlesnake Rivers offer all kinds of places for an angler to step into the cool waters and drop a fly or lure behind a rock and hook a hard-fighting trout or two. As is the case with the Yakima, each of these other streams has certain regulations regarding the use of bait, catch limits and size limits, so be sure to check the rulebook for whatever river or creek you want to fish."

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife's (WDFW) National Hunting and Fishing Day celebration is a great, family-oriented way to introduce youth to target shooting, hunting and fishing. It's also an opportunity to recognize that hunters and anglers continue to be among the most active supporters of wildlife management and conservation. This year's event will take place on Sept. 30, 2023, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Camp Cowles located at 4161 N Shore Diamond Lake Rd, Newport WA 99156. Youth 17 years and younger who attend the event with an accompanying adult can shoot WDFW firearms, archery equipment and air rifles for free. Agency staff and WDFW hunter education instructors will be on hand to teach shooting safety and provide instruction and guidance.

If you aren't a salmon angler there are plenty of other opportunities for anglers in our region. I point out several excellent fisheries in the Summer issue of my free E-Letter. To get a copy, go to my website at www.fishingmagician.com and click on the E-Letter button at the top left hand corner of the Home Page.

MULTI-GENERATIONAL HOUSEHOLDS GROW IN POPULARITY

The popularity of multigenerational homes is growing, with more families choosing to live together under one roof. Family households of 3 or more generations, or "multigenerational households," have become increasingly popular in recent years. According to the Pew Research Center, the number of Americans<sup>1</sup> living in a multigenerational family household today is about four times larger than in the 1970s.

The Pew data reveals that 59.7 million U.S. residents live with multiple generations under one roof. Several factors are driving this trend. Recently, the COVID-19 pandemic<sup>2</sup> increased multigenerational living arrangements as families came together for financial or health-related reasons. Other recent factors include rising housing costs and adult children staying home longer.

Population growth in the United States is also driving this trend. According to Pew, the population increase includes foreign-born Asian, Black and Hispanics who are more likely to live under one roof. The demographic shift is apparent in home buying trends. A recent National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) survey of home buyers<sup>3</sup> shows that half of African Americans (50%) and Hispanics (53%) say they prefer a home designed for multiple generations.

Multigenerational households also form so that grandparents can help care for their grandchildren, and their children can care for them as they age. This type of arrangement can also lessen financial burdens, with several generations contributing to the mortgage payment and eliminating expenses of childcare, retirement housing or professional caregiving environments.

Home builders and remodelers are building and renovating homes to meet the needs of multigenerational households. These designs allow many generations of the same family to live together under one roof yet have private areas and combined living space.

Features of multigenerational home plans can include in-law suites within the main home with separate areas for independent living. These often have kitchenettes, ensuite bathrooms, and sometimes private entrances from the street. In addition, they frequently include "universal design" features, which focus on maximum usability by people of all ages and abilities. Examples include walk-in showers, smooth flooring transitions, and cabinets with pull-out drawers.

Building professionals who have earned the NAHB Certified Aging-in-Place Specialist (CAPS) designation have received training on how to build or renovate a home so that the occupants can live in the home safely, independently and comfortably, regardless of their age or ability level. While most CAPS professionals are remodelers, an increasing number are general contractors, designers, architects, and healthcare professionals.

To learn more about multigenerational home plans or to find a CAPS professional in the Central WA, contact the Central WA Home Builders Association.

SPOKANE'S SHELBY THOMPSON TAKES SHOCKING MONTANA 200 VICTORY

RONAN, MONT. — Shelby Thompson doesn't race a lot these days but when he does he tends to make headlines.

Like winning his first Montana 200 July 15 at the Mission Valley Super Oval in Ronan, Montana. The Spokane driver now adds his name to another of the "Big-Four" Inland Northwest super late model races to his resume having won the 2015 Apple Cup in Yakima.

In beating local favorite Agni Howell and Alex Lessor to the checkered flag to collect $10,000 first-place money in the 32nd annual race, Thompson became the first Spokane driver to win at the Montana 200 since Marc Groskreutz did so in 1996, and before that 1993.

Thompson, driving a car owned by Spokane's Todd Havens, took the lead from Agni Howell on lap 164 of the 200-lap and finished 1.77 seconds ahead of Howell and Alex Lessor who was 2.376 seconds back.

"That was cool. That was a lot of fun," Thompson told racingamerica.com. "I just have to thank Todd Havens, the whole Havens family. Chuck Carruthers, dude, you know how to set up a race car. I just had to sit in the seat. That was awesome."

What might be more awesome is the story of just how Thompson latched onto this dream ride.

The car, which is normally driven by Havens' son Jess, became available when the younger Haven broke his foot earlier in the season.

It was specifically put together for the 3/8th's mile Mission tri-oval.

"Mission Valley Speedway is a high speed lots of braking track so it was just too painful, so he (Jess) told us he just couldn't do it," Todd Havens wrote in a text message.

"So we called Shelby who hadn't raced a car in four years. He was mowing the lawn and said 'Yes he would be excited to run it,'" Todd Havens explained.

Todd Havens literally calls it a fairy tale as Thompson arrived at the track with the field on the starting grid for a qualifying heat.

"(He) got out of his personal car and jumped into our race car and literally five minutes later was racing the positioning heat," Havens said. Starting dead last in the qualifier, Thompson raced his way up to fifth with allowed him to start the main event in ninth.

Thompson's joy was Howell's misery.

Kalispell's Howell was making his 15th start in the 200 and took the lead on lap 112 from Spokane's Dave Garber.

"My dream is to win this, and I mean it's a real live, big, huge dream," Howell told racingamerica.com. "I'm really close. I'm disappointed, very disappointed, but also really grateful," he added.

Thompson's victory ended the two-race streak of Yakima's B.J. Tidrick who had won in 2021 and 2022 at the track which took over the race when Kalispell's Montana Raceway Park closed in 2020. The Montana 200 ran at MRP from 1991 to 2019.

Thompson will not let much grass grow under his gas pedal foot now as it did from the last time he raced. He will be back in the car for the Idaho 200 July 28-29 at Stateline Speedway. ■

At the very last minute, Spokane's Shelby Thompson jumped into the seat of a borrowed late model race car following four years away from racing. And then he drove to the most unlikely of victories July 15 at the Montana 200 at Mission Valley Super Oval in Ronan, Mont.

Shelby Thompson in action on the track at Mission Valley during the Montana 200 he won July 15.

IDAHO 200 SET FOR THIS WEEKEND AT STATELINE

POST FALLS, Idaho — Over three dozen race teams, including two former champions and a record five female racers will chase after the $5,000 first-place money July 28-29 at the 23rd Idaho 200 at Stateline Speedway.

In addition to the first-place money, lap sponsors will add to that total for each lap lead.

"This will be the largest field of female drivers (5)," general manager Matt Alexander wrote in an email. "The girls are coming and the boys better look out," he added.

TORRENCE, WILKERSON PICK UP WINS AT N.W. NATS

KENT, Wash. (July 23, 2023) — Four-time NHRA Top Fuel champion Steve Torrence moved into the points lead on June 23 at Pacific Raceways with his first win of the 2023 season, powering past Doug Kalitta in the final round of the 34th annual Flav-R-Pac NHRA Northwest Nationals.

Tim Wilkerson (Funny Car) and Gaige Herrera (Pro Stock Motorcycle) also won at the 11th of 21 races during the 2023 NHRA Camping World Drag Racing Series season.

Torrence earned his 54th career win, going 3.940-seconds at 289.26 mph to knock off Kalitta, denying the veteran his Past champs in the field include Garrett Evans (2012) from East Wenatchee and last year's winner, Spokane's Haeden Plybon.

Gates open at 4 p.m. both Friday and Saturday. Friday Night after the final checker flag we will be having a Party in the Pit Concert Featuring Canaan Smith.

50th overall victory. It also gave Toyota its 200th overall NHRA win.

In Funny Car, consistency paved the way for Wilkerson, putting together three straight 4.00 runs on Sunday and going 4.007 at 321.96 in his 11,000-horsepower SCAG Power Equipment/Levi, Ray & Shoup Ford Mustang in the championship round to defeat J.R. Todd.

It is the veteran's second victory this season and his 24th career victory, as well as his fourth overall win at Pacific Raceways. ■
