Dave Johnson
"The Outdoor Insider"

I had high hopes for the week. That full moon had faded, and I figured the sockeye bite would come back on Lake Wenatchee. My calendar was full of friends eager to get out and give it a try.

I had stopped fishing the lake for a few days, as it just wasn't happening. I wasn't the only angler struggling, but I talked Travis Maitland, the district biologist for the Department of Fish and Wildlife for this area into joining me last Tuesday. I am not saying that I was back on top of my game, but I sure did a lot better than I was doing with that full moon. At least I got Travis his limit of sockeye, and we had a great day. As you can all imagine we had a lot to talk about. One thing I learned was that there were a lot more sockeye in the lake than I thought. They stopped posting the counts at Tumwater Dam when they hit just over 40,000. I figured there were maybe 50,000 in the lake, but Travis told me that there were actually just over 75,000 sockeye that had passed over the dam and were in the lake. Wow, that gave me confidence that when the bite came back we could be in for some great fishing. The fish were still looking great, so I was really looking forward to the trips I had planned for later in the week. This week's photo of Travis Maitland with the first sockeye he landed on our trip.

On Wednesday, I took my brother in law Tom Verschueren. The wind was blowing hard when we got to the lake, but we went out anyway. I am sure glad we did. The bite was finally back on, and we were busy. It is not easy fishing when the wind is blowing hard. Keeping the boat straight with the bow mount and running the kicker in reverse to keep our speed down, worked okay, though. Even when we were getting knocked around we managed to hook and land our eight fish by 8:30. Instead of running up to the top of the lake, where I could get out of the wind, I toughed it out and ran down to West Point. That paid off. We caught fish going down wind and into the wind. When we needed just one more fish, we got a double and had to throw one back. In spite of the conditions, we had a great time.

On Thursday of last week, I had two anglers on board with me. Although the conditions weren't great, we shoved off and ran out to where I started the day before. The wind was blowing at from 12 to 16 miles per hour, with gusts much higher than that. I had figured out how to fish in these conditions, so it didn't matter. Anglers Bill Westbrook and Lyndon McClean were too busy cranking in fish to notice the wind. The sockeye bite was great. They did a great job helping me manage the gear, whacking fish and getting them in the cooler. The bite was terrific. We had triples, doubles and were landing fish on the downriggers and the back rods with the lead ball rigs. Once again, when we needed just one more fish we got a double and had to release one. Even when getting knocked around and the fire drill of landing doubles and triples we only lost one fish. It was another epic day of sockeye fishing on Lake Wenatchee.

My hunch was right. When the moon faded the fishing on Lake Wenatchee just got better and better. I have a few more trips scheduled, and I am really looking forward to getting back out there. Also, I have noticed that the traffic on the lake is way down. Maybe a third of what I saw the first week. I don't think there is much of wait at the launch now, and there are still lots of sockeye left to catch.

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife has announced the opening of several areas of the Snake River to fishing for Chinook salmon. Specific locations, dates, and rules: Lyons Ferry Bubble Fishery from the red river marker (Marker 28) on the south shore of the Snake River upstream to the Highway 261 Bridge (approximately 1.4 miles): Open Sept. 7, until further notice, on Thursdays through Sundays only of each week. Salmon daily limit two (2) adult Chinook including no more than one (1) wild adult Chinook. No daily limit for jack Chinook (wild or hatchery). Minimum size is 12 inches. Release all salmon other than Chinook. Barbless hooks required.

From the downstream edge of the large power lines crossing the Snake River just upstream of West Evans Road on the south shore (approximately 3 miles downstream of Clarkston), upstream to the Oregon state line: Open daily from Aug. 18 through Oct. 31, 2023. Daily limit three (3) adult Chinook (wild or hatchery). No limit for jack Chinook (wild or hatchery).

Minimum size is 12 inches. Release all salmon other than Chinook. Barbless hooks required. The 2023 Columbia River forecasted return of up-river bright adults is 272,400, with a significant portion of these fish expected to return to the Snake River.

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife has announced an adjustment in the adult salmon daily limit in the Hanford Reach. Beginning on Sept. 1 through Oct. 31, 2023, the area of the Columbia River; from Hwy. 395 Bridge at Pasco to Columbia Point (1/3 mile downstream of the I-182 Bridge), the adjusted rule is that the Salmon daily limit 6 including no more than 1 adult. Release all salmon other than Chinook and coho. The salmon season in this area was listed incorrectly in the 2023/24 Washington Sport Fishing Rules pamphlet. This correction aligns salmon seasons with those agreed to during the 2023 North of Falcon (NOF) season setting process.

In another announcement from the WDFW portions of Rimrock Reservoir and the Tieton River have been closed. Closes shoreline fishing for game fish in a portion of the Rimrock Reservoir in the vicinity of South Fork Tieton River and all game fish fishing in South Fork Tieton. Anglers are advised to check the most recent news releases from the Region 3 office of the WDFW in Yakima.

Hope to see you on the water on Lake Wenatchee!

DOG OF THE WEEK

Hi! I'm Muddle! Sometimes I get so excited when I see the staff that I can't keep myself from bunny hopping and zooming all over my kennel. Whether it's lazing around on the couch curled up watching your favorite sitcom, or getting out and taking a brisk morning walk- I'm content being anywhere as long as it's with my human. I do well with kids and other dogs.

CAT OF THE WEEK

Meet Fawna! When Fawna first came in she was just a shy gal who didn't really want anything to do with the staff. Now, she has come out of her shell a ton! She is still a little more shy than your typical cat, but when she chooses she loves to be pet, especially chin scratches. Fawna's favorite place to lay is her covered bed, and 9 times out of ten that's where you can find her.

JOSH TURNER OPENS STATELINE CONCERT VENUE WELCOMES EASTON CORBIN SEPT. 6

Stateline Speedway switched gears recently and changed direction to become a concert venue. It's something the facility will do again in a few weeks too.

On August 9 the racetrack — officially known by its sponsored name as Findlay Stadium Stateline Speedway — welcomed headliner Josh Turner to its stage for the first event of 2023.

The concert stage sits just inside the backstretch wall which allows viewing from the infield, grandstands or a variety of other vantage points.

"The concert itself was great," facility general manager Matt Alexander wrote in an email. "We had roughly 3,500 people come out to see Josh Turner, Kaleb Austin and Third Ave - Peyton Rae & Cody."

It is a nice location for an outdoor concert, Alexander added, noting "Every event we learn something new and build off of that.

For instance, food, beverages and parking will all be changed to make for a better experience, he noted.

The next concert to finish out the Grandstand Jam Tour at Findlay Stadium Stateline Speedway will be Sept. 6 featuring Easton Corbin headliner along with Tanner Adell and Track 45 as openers.

Gates open at 5 p.m. and the first act takes the stage at 6. ■

Tickets can be purchased on www.raceidaho.com with a variety of different options. Seating sections available:

- Reserved VIP Tables of 8
- Pit (standing only)
- Floor (standing or bring your own chair)
- Reserved seats in grandstands
- General Admission in Grandstands

KODY KOPP SLOWED IN TITLE DEFENSE AT CASTLE ROCK

Things got out of hand for Logan Cole (3) and Tommy Elstoen (2) at the "South Sound 200" staged at South Sound Speedway, Rochester, Wash., Aug. 5. The only incident happened on lap six and involved Cole and Elstoen who started first and third respectively. The two were racing hard for the lead when they got together in turn three and the subsequent crash took both cars out of the race. JJ Hamilton won the race that featured a seventeen-car main event but only nine finished. He took the lead on a lap-6 restart and was untouchable after that. ■

PLYBON SEEKS TO STRENGTHEN STREAK

Spokane late model driver Haeden Plybon looks to improve on his current two-race win streak and add to his points lead as the Northwest Super Late Model Series travels to Meridian Speedway near Boise, Idaho for an Aug. 19 race. Plybon, who takes a 42-point lead over Max Schroeder and leads Zach Riehl by 46, has won three of the five races run to date. The NWSLM cars return to the Inland Northwest, Sept. 3 at Hermiston. ■
