Fishing Magician

Dave Graybill
"The Outdoor Insider"

The sockeye fishing on Lake Wenatchee has been phenomenal. I got limits every day last week and got them early enough to be off the water before it got too hot. The quality of the fish is holding up surprisingly well, so I plan to do more trips. If you haven't tried the sockeye fishing on Lake Wenatchee better get to it soon.

A couple of months ago Christine Lee, who works at Bob Feil Boats and Motors, asked me if I could take her and her mother fishing. She would be visiting from Alberta, Canada in mid-August, and loves to fish. She said it didn't matter what we fished for, she just wanted to catch something. I put them in my calendar for August 15th and told her that where we went and what we fished for would be determined then. I was keeping my fingers crossed that there would be a good fishery going at that time. Turns out that the sockeye fishing on Lake Wenatchee was going great, so that's where we went.

Christine and her mother Brenda Wallace met me at Coles Corner at 5:30 and followed me to the boat. It was a glorious day to be on the lake. No wind and not too many boats on the water. We left the dock just after 6:00 and it didn't take us long to get started catching fish. They did a great job hauling them in, and they were having a ball. At 9:15, when we needed just one more fish to have all three of our limits, we got a triple! We landed all three of them and released two dandy sockeye. Brenda's visit was timed perfectly for a great day of fishing.

Last Monday was a particularly special day of sockeye fishing for me. My brothers, Rick, and Lane Graybill were on board with me and my niece, Lane's daughter Sophie. It is not often that I get the chance to fish with this many of my family members, and we were all excited. Sophie would be going off to college soon, so I didn't know when we would get another chance to go fishing.

Usually, when you want to show people a great day of fishing, it doesn't work out that way. However, the fishing gods were smiling on us, and we were kept busy all morning, landing sockeye after sockeye on Lake Wenatchee. Better yet, the winds that had plagued my fishing trips for some days this season were absent. We took turns reeling fish in, bonking and unhooking them, and loading them in the cooler. There was plenty of excitement as the rods in the holders bounced or the ones off the back end dipped under the stress of a fish on the line. There was plenty of laughter, too, as we celebrated netting another fish, or shared stories of past fishing trips or other adventures. There were 16 sockeye in the cooler when I turned the boat towards the dock. It was a day we will all remember for a long time.

Rob Phillips, the outdoor writer for the Yakima Herald and I had a hard time getting a date to fish Lake Wenatchee for sockeye that worked for both of us. We tried two or three times and had to change the date. I was about to give up when Sunday the 13th turned out to be the lucky day. Rob left Yakima at 3 a.m. to meet me at Coles Corner and he followed me to where the boat was docked. I was amazed to see the lake flat calm. I had fished in heavy wind for several days, and this was going to be a pleasure. I had no idea how good it was going to be. When I dropped the gear I didn't get all four rods out before Rob was cranking in a fish. Of course, Rob and I both have the two pole endorsement. But in fact, we never got all four rods out. We had rods leaning against the gunnels, fish flopping on the deck, and it was wild. Rob netted a fish for me and announced that we were done. I looked at my watch and it was 6:40.

I have never put two limits of sockeye in the boat in such a short time. That was some fun fishing. This week's photo is of Rob with a bright sockeye taken on our trip.

Rob is not only an outdoor writer, but he has also published a series of mysteries, all based on the fictional "adventures" of Luke McCain. In these books McCain is a northeastern Washington Fish and Wildlife police officer, and in addition to doing his duties of checking fishing licenses and tracking down poachers, he gets involved in everything from kidnapping to serial killer investigations. These are real page turners and are especially fun reading for those of us who are familiar with the placenames and areas where the thrillers take place. I read the first book and immediately ordered the rest of the books that were available through Amazon books. According to Phillips, sales are very brisk, through Amazon and other outlets that carry the books. He presented me with the fifth book in the series when we were done fishing, and another one that he just finished, that is what he calls more of a memoir. It is called A Dog Life Well Lived and is his recollection of his time spent with his hunting dogs over the years. I believe this book is also available through Amazon books, and upland bird and pheasant hunters will really appreciate this one.

I had a trip planned to Omak Lake later this month with my good friend Buell Hawkins. I introduced Buell and his son Brad to fishing for Lahatan cutthroat on this lake many years ago, and he was going to bring his grandkids along. However, since the sockeye fishing is so good I changed our plans to go to Lake Wenatchee. We'll do Omak Lake at another time. Perhaps when the weather is a bit cooler.

I am going to be looking for my next fishing adventures beyond Lake Wenatchee soon. I am hearing that there are still kokanee in the lower Basin on Lake Chelan. I like to have a good supply of these tasty fish in my freezer. My wife loves the crispy fish cakes I make with kokanee from Lake Chelan.

DOG OF THE WEEK

Meet Lilly! This drool sensation is so sweet and loves anyone who steps foot in her kennel. Lilly is a little impatient when it comes to her breakfast, and when it takes a little longer than she would like, she will play dead until her food comes. Her favorite way to get out her energy is to play fetch. Lilly knows how to sit, stay, lay down and shake. She is very treat motivated.

CAT OF THE WEEK

Meet Fawna! When Fawna first came in she was just a shy gal who didn't really want anything to do with the staff. Now, she has come out of her shell a ton! She is still a little more shy than your typical cat, but when she chooses she loves to be pet, especially chin scratches. Fawna's favorite place to lay is her covered bed, and 9 times out of ten that's where you can find her.

The scene at the Hydroplane and Raceboat Museum following thieves using a car to break into the facility Aug. 18.

HYDRO MUSEUM SMASH AND GRAB

Kent, Wash. (Aug. 18, 2023) — Please excuse the mess the Hydroplane and Raceboat Museum wrote in an email to report a smash-and-grab burglary at the Kent, Wash. facility.

"Last night someone decided to use a stolen car to "re-model" the Hydroplane and Raceboat Museum gift shop in a smash and grab break-in. No historical artifacts were damaged or stolen, but it's going to take a while to get cleaned up and back to normal. We will be open as usual but just ask that you have a little patience as we work through this," was the message.

To help defer the costs of this incident the museum is asking to please consider making a tax-deductible donation by visiting <https://thunderboats.ning.com>. ■

VALVE COVER RACES AT MILLWOOD DAZE AUGUST 26

MILLWOOD, WASH. (Aug. 21, 2023) — Gravity, not motors, will do the propulsion at the second annual Valve Cover Races sponsored by Bottles at Millwood Daze, Aug. 26.

The event features a track with two lanes, similar to a drag strip, and will offer a variety of classes and races. The competition is very similar to the Cub Scouts "Pinewood Derby" where cars race down an angled track.

Only difference is the vehicles are all built from engine valve covers and use skate wheels.

Preregistration is suggested and can be done in advance at Bottles in Millwood during regular hours. Day of the race registration will begin Aug. 26 at 2 p.m. and close just before racing begins at 3 p.m. Cost: $15 per entry.

Categories for Contestants:

Junior League, ages 16 and below
 Adult League, ages 17 – 99

Basic Rules of the Track

- Cars shall be made of an actual automotive valve cover
- No engines or propulsive additions allowed
- Car may not contain any moving weights
- Wheels may be attached to the valve cover in any way, but may not exceed beyond the front of the valve cover
- Wheels may be made of any material

- Car may be no longer than 36 inches
- Car may be no wider than 10.5 inches
- The front of the car may be no taller than 3 inches
- Cars should weigh 10 pounds or less — Cars found to be overweight may still race, but will not qualify for the overall winner's title

Millwood Daze is family friendly and racer designs should be appropriate for all audiences

PROBLEMS HAUNT ARMSTRONG AT BAKERSFIELD

BAKERSFIELD, CALIF. (Aug. 19, 2023) — Spokane's Terry Armstrong Jr. made his first visit to Madera Speedway in 2021 and the "Olga's California Dream 100" very memorable when he took home the victory and $2,000 first-place money.

Since then, however, luck has not been on Armstrong's side as he has had a series of problems in both 2022 and 2023 events.

"We had our clutch break and practice on Thursday; Friday morning thought we fixed the problem. Went out and the clutch broke again," Armstrong wrote in a Facebook message.

sage.

"We pulled the motor out built another motor in the pits threw it in after 9 hours and it would not start," Armstrong said.

"So again, for the second year I spectated and crewed for my friends and competitors," adding "Sometimes you're the bug and sometimes you are the windshield."

The race is the brainchild of Bob Coply, who along with his late wife, Olga, with the spotlight shining on racers who are generally the backup shows. ■

PLYBON'S NWSLM STREAK AT THREE FOLLOWING MERIDIAN WIN

MERIDIAN, IDAHO (Aug. 19, 2023) — Murphy's Law was in full force for Haeden Plybon at Meridian Speedway during the running of the Idaho 208 Northwest Super Late Model race Aug. 19.

For reference, Murphy's law is the adage that goes "Anything that can go wrong will go wrong."

And despite Murphy riding along on the 375-mile drive and spending Friday with the team, Plybon was first across the line when the checkered flag flew and the 19-year-old Spokane driver was there for the win — his third in a row and fourth in the last five outings.

Plybon finished ahead of a pair of local drivers, Middleton's Zach Telford and Jonathan Gomez from Kimberley, Idaho. Aubree Cristiani from Boise and Spokane's David Garber rounded out the top-5.

"This was the toughest weekend we had ever had for sure," Haeden's father, Tom Plybon wrote in a text message.

They showed up on Friday for practice and promptly blew the engine with no spare in the trailer.

"Seriously with those crate motors it is kind of hit or miss," Haeden Plybon said in an Aug. 21 interview. "One year we went through two or three of them," he added.

The team of Zach Riehl just so happened to have a spare motor, so the Plybon crew did an "all-nighter" swapping engines, and they were good to go for Saturday qualifying, right?

Not so fast as next came a broken axle in practice.

That repair completed, Plybon went out and qualified No. 4 with a lap of 13.149 seconds behind Cristiani who clocked a 13.045.

Plybon actually drew the second-row fourth slot in the inverted start and began a slow run to the lead that once included starting from the back of the pack following a wreck.

He pried the lead away from Cristiani who hit the wall at lap 138 of 208 on the tight quarter-mile oval and then had the field in his rearview mirror the remainder of the race.

Plybon, a Mead High School graduate, attributes the team's success to a familiar name in racing, crew chief Kevin Richards who is a longtime driver at high levels like NASCAR's Winston West. Richards calls on decades of experience, as well as the DNA of his father, Roger, a wizard from a bygone era.

"He's a smart guy," who has, "Been around for a day or two," Plybon says. "I mean after work like every single day he is working on that car."

Going into Meridian, Plybon had a 42-point edge on his closest pursuer, Max Schroeder in the chase for the championship. Schroeder finished 12th. He was 46 ahead of Zach Riehl who finished eighth so when new standings come out Plybon will have edged a bit closer to his first series title.

Three events remain with the next outing Sept. 3 at Hermiston. ■
