MEET THE STUDENTS CLEARING LITTER FROM WASHINGTON HIGHWAYS

The increasing pace of our high-tech world allows less and less time for teens to have summer jobs, much less to perform public service. This year, 72 Central Washington teens are doing both and making a difference one piece of litter at a time. As members of the Ecology Youth Corps, the students spend their summer break cleaning trash from state highways.

Active since 1975, the program was once the largest and longest-standing youth employment program in the nation. Central Washington's six crews are based in Ellensburg, Richland, Sunnyside, Toppenish, Goldendale, and Yakima.

On average, Youth Corps crews annually help pick up over one million pounds of litter and clean over 4,000 miles of roads statewide. Nearly 100,000 pounds of that litter is recycled each year.

The program is about more than just trash, though.

"We're teaching them how to be," said Rod Hankinson, who has managed Central Washington's Youth Corps program for nearly 40 years. "They're finding their way in the world. They're learning hard work, and they're learning about the environment."

If you've driven along I-90 near Ellensburg in the last few weeks, you might have seen our Ellensburg crew hard at work. Let's get to know them and what they've accomplished in the past few weeks!

Meet The Crew

Mike is a local middle school teacher who's supervised Youth Corps crews in Ellensburg every summer for the last 11 years. He says he loves getting outdoors and working with students outside the classroom.

"They're fun, they're funny, they have camaraderie, and they're learning different skills on the job," he said.

Mike is out picking up litter alongside the crew all day, and he says he doesn't ask them to do anything he wouldn't do. When it's hot, he takes them to get milkshakes. And as an educator, he's constantly teaching his crew, whether about how to be safe on the road or how their work fits into a broader vision of environmental protection.

Each crew member has different reasons for joining. Some said it gives them routine and something to do over the summer. Some said it's great work experience. They all said they love working for Mike. "I'd recommend waiting for a better boss next year," one crew member joked.

One of the best parts for the crew is bringing home paychecks. Each teen earns $15.74 an hour, a rare opportunity for 14- to 17-year-olds. Many of them have big plans for the over $1000 they'll make this summer, including saving up, buying a mountain bike, and visiting a friend across the country.

They work hard to earn it, too. The crew leaves at 7 a.m. and does their job even in miserable weather. They have rotating responsibilities, like placing cones around the van, setting up signs, or weighing and counting bags.

One Person's Trash is Another's Treasure

To keep morale high, Mike plays litter bingo with the crew. The game is a good incentive, because whenever someone wins, he awards them prize money from his own paycheck.

"If it's ever been manufactured, we've found it on the side of the road," he said.

Almost everything they find is theirs to keep, including dollar bills. One crew member found a set of pliers that his mom now uses. Another brought home a roll of veterinary wrap for her family's horses and has begun a scientific collection of animal bones she's found while working.

The crew said they quickly learned how much trash is out there on our roads.

"That's our impact as humans, and most of us don't even see it," Mike confirmed. "When we're out here, we see the detritus of society."

Safety First

Under Mike's guidance, the Ellensburg crew pulls in over 100 bags of litter each day. The bags regularly weigh 20 to 30 pounds each. But, he stresses, the amount they pick up never comes before safety.

Before setting foot next to the highway, all crews undergo a thorough orientation and safety training, with ongoing safety meetings each week. They receive clear instructions for how to handle different types of objects and situations.

Rod and the supervisors follow strict precautions to prevent heat stress and ensure each crew member is drinking plenty of water. They check in before each day's shift to assess conditions and decide if it's safe for crews to be out.

"My job is about keeping the kids safe, not just ensuring litter is picked up," Rod said. "I tell parents I'll take care of their kids like they're my own."

How You Can Help Our Litter Crews

A group of people stands in front of a pile of recyclable bottles. The pile is spread on a tarp on a driveway.

There are a few easy ways to help our youth crews stay safe while they pick up litter — and prevent that litter from getting on the road in the first place.

Secure your load. Statewide, unsecured loads cause over 300 crashes and up to 40% of roadside litter each year.

Keep a litter bag in your car and throw your trash in a bin.

Talk with others about litter prevention. We need everyone in Washington doing their part to keep roads safe and litter free.

Slow down and move over when you see a sign that Youth Corps crews are at work.

Do you know a student who's interested in applying for a position next year? Check ecology.wa.gov next February for application information.

6 HOME DESIGN TRENDS TO WATCH Part 2

The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) recently announced the winners of the Best in American Living Awards (BALA) – a prestigious awards program recognizing excellence in designs that will influence the entire residential building industry.

Award recipients are lauded as the nation's most creative and inventive builders, remodelers, architects, developers, land planners and interior designers.

Below are some of the newest trends in home design that buyers throughout Central Washington will see in the coming months and years, based on submissions from this year's BALA winners. Some of these elements are sure to inspire your next design project.

1. Wine in Design
2. Colorful Kitchens
3. Fantastic Foyers
4. Outdoor Living

From single-family to multifamily and community amenities, outdoor living continues to be a huge focus in home design. Even in colder climates, designers are incorporating great indoor/outdoor spaces that could be utilized differently depending on the time of year.

5. Luxurious Bathrooms

Large showers and standalone or additional soaking tubs are making a splash in today's bathrooms, especially where larger square footage allows for them. Great bathroom designs also focus on the ability to bring in lots of natural light while still maintaining privacy, whether through frosted panes or outdoor privacy walls.

6. Exteriors with Style

Details add a level of richness to create stunning homes across the country. From traditional to contemporary to modern farmhouse, rich regional materials can be balanced with contrasting colors to create strong curb appeal. Color blocking — especially in multifamily designs — creates a cohesive, yet unique, appearance.

To find an industry professional who is ready to bring these exciting new trends to your new home or remodeling project, visit www.CWHBA.org or contact the Central Washington Home Builders Association.

Dave Douglas
"The Outdoor Insider"

A man wearing a purple baseball cap, sunglasses, and a grey long-sleeved shirt is smiling while holding a large rainbow trout. He is standing in a white boat on a river. The trout has a silvery body with a prominent red/pink stripe along its side. In the background, there are steep, rocky hills and some green trees along the riverbank.

I have scheduled at least two trips to Omak Lake in the next few weeks. Fishing for Lahontan cutthroat here is nothing short of spectacular, and I rarely see another boat on the water. Since this big, beautiful Lake is on the Colville Reservation and requires Tribal permits and licenses it is largely ignored. Those who have experienced the fishing on Omak Lake are happy to pay these fees.

Come see why we are Eastern Washington's recreation capital!

STATELINE SPEEDWAY 2023 CHAMPIONS NAMED IN 12 CLASSES

POST FALLS, Idaho — Over the past two weeks and in three nights of racing, Stateline Speedway has crowned its 2023 champions.

Hayden's Jeff Bird never won a feature race in 2023 but his five top-five finishes in Freedom Modifieds gave him the nine-points edge (361-352) over nephew Lucas out of Electric City, Wash. on Sept. 16.

Frank Varner of Spokane also had a close finish — just nine points (442-433) — in his Johnson Surveying Hobby Stocks championship win over Bart Hector Jr. from Ephrata in racing on Sept. 9.

Cara Tarr out of Spokane was the V6 Claimers class over Colbert's Donnie Allen is a close battle as just 14 points (402-388) separated the top two. Tarr's consistency — six top five finishes and a main event win in as many races — paved the way to the title.

Alex Mandere from Spokane won the championship in the Rayce Rudeen Legends by 15 points (409-394) over Marissa Sawin from Snohomish, Wash.

Chad Broom finished in the top-five in all six races, winning three in the Eljay Oil Nostalgia Modifieds and topped another Spokane driver, Frankie Volz, Jr. by 16 points (461-445).

Spokane's Reesen Tarr ended with just a 13-point edge (480-467) over James Cotter from Priest River in Goins Bump-to-Pass, winning three races and finishing in the top-five in all six events.

TJ Sneva, son of the late Jerry Sneva and part of Spokane's famous family of racing won his final feature on Sept. 16 en route to the 2023 title. He ended with a 30-point edge (447-417) over Colville's Chris Ochs and won five of six main events.

Jared Storer from Spokane collected the Impel Roadrunners championship with relative ease over Spokane Valley's Keaten Tarr. Three wins and seven top-fives in eight races provided Storer his 63 point (568-505) margin.

It was a battle between Othello, Wash. drivers James Herreid and John Brueher in Motion Auto Supply Early Stocks. Herreid's five wins in seven races gave the champ an 83-point (685-602) margin.

KC Garber is part of another well-known Spokane-area racing family. His 95-point victory (659-564) in Park Model Homes Fever 4s came on the strength of five victories and top-five finishes in all nine races.

Nick Gibson had to work extra hard to win the Stateline Racecars Pro Late Model championship needing a 900-mile round trip each time from his Nampa, Idaho base. The 2023 Idaho 200 winner had four feature wins in six races in building a 114-point margin (638-524) for the crown.

Spokane's Carsyn Murphy ran away with the Angel's Bail Bonds Bandolero's as 12 wins in 16 races propelled him to a 163-point margin (1,177-1,014) over Maddex Clanton from Rathdrum, Idaho.

The Northwest Figure 8s lone visit to Stateline produced a victory for Snohomish, Wash. Damon Claibourn who won a close 80-75 win over fellow West-sider, Peyton Hopp from Monroe.

Final details on the date and site of the Stateline Speedway banquet are still being finalized.

15-YEAR-OLD EVAN GOETZ WINS AT WENATCHEE

The youth movement in the Northwest Super Late Models prevailed again as Evan Goetz, 15, from Okanogan, Wash. won the Neal Newberry 125, Sept. 16 at the Wenatchee Valley Super Oval.

Goetz finished 2.6 seconds ahead of Haeden Plybon, 19, Spokane and Tayler Riddle out of Naches, Wash. on the quarter-mile oval in a field of 19 cars.

With one race remaining in 2023, the Oct. 1 Fall Classic at Tri City Raceway in West Richland, Wash. Plybon has all but clinched this season's championship.
