BUYER BEWARE

Classified ads are a great way to sell something, find something or hire a contractor to do needed work around your home or business. Sadly, our advertisers cannot always trust the individuals who respond to their ads. It has come to our attention that there are scammers out there who respond to ads with the sole intention of deceiving the advertiser. Typically these scams are actually generated by automated bots. Here are a few things to look out for:

When selling something:

Scammers typically text & ask what your final price is. They will then ask you if you can ship the item. In return, they tell you that they will send a cashier's check with some extra money added in to cover shipping. Do not fall for this. Accepting cash for items is the best bet. For large purchases, meeting at the buyer's financial institution for the payment is encouraged.

Where to meet:

If you are unsure of a buyer or seller, ask them to meet you at the local police station or S.C.O.P.E. office, or a public location such as a grocery store parking lot. People who don't have anything to hide will be agreeable to that type of meeting spot.

Who to hire:

If you are looking for a contractor to fix or build something, make sure they are licensed & bonded. This can be verified on the Washington State Labor & Industries contractor site. Do not pay in advance for any services or materials until you have a signed contract. Many contractors ask for half the money in advance & the remainder when the job is done. It is good to verify that the individual does, indeed, still work for the company they are representing. It is also a good idea to ask for references. Most contractors are happy to pass on names and phone numbers of customers that can verify their work.

WATER SUPPLY UPDATE — TIME TO START THINKING ABOUT WATER SUPPLIES IN 2024

Get used to the words “warm and dry”

Drought conditions continue to be an issue in Washington. Photo by Joshua Rogala, WA Department of Fish and Wildlife.

If you are reading this, odds are good it's raining. For some reason, anytime we publish a blog about drought, it rains. (And, sure enough, there is rain in the forecast across much of Washington.)

Don't be fooled. Your lawn may be soaking up a late-summer shower, but the medium- and long-term forecast is warm and dry.

After another warmer than normal, drier than normal summer — on the heels of a drought declaration — the current trend of “warm and dry” may not exactly qualify as news.

But the extent to which “warm and dry” is the consensus forecast for the foreseeable future it should be newsworthy, because water users need to be looking ahead and preparing for what today's “warm and dry” will mean for them in 2024.

“If you're a junior water rights holder, now is the time to get together and start talking about next year's emergency and seasonal transfers,” said Ecology drought guru Jeff Marti. “If they've been curtailed in the past, they'll probably be curtailed again.”

Marti said water users can start looking for potential water rights to be transferred using Ecology's Water Rights Search Tool, but they may need to hire consultants or even look to the private marketplace to find the water they need.

Ecology needs to declare a drought for emergency water right transfers, but we can process non-emergency seasonal transfers at any time.

This isn't just a concern for 2023 and 2024: Water supply issues are likely to become more frequent in the years ahead. According to climate change models, warm winters will result in more precipitation falling as rain instead of snow, meaning droughts could become more frequent in snow-dependent watersheds. Water users should start planning ahead for more frequent droughts in the coming years.

Will the fall rains help? Don't count on it. According to current predictions, the fall rains that so many of us pin our hopes upon may not be coming, at least not in the amounts needed to recharge the aquifers and replenish the streams. The winter snowpack we're always going on about may not come either, thanks to the looming weather boogeyman, El Niño.

El Niño typically means warm winters in the Pacific Northwest.

Averaged statewide, May through July of this year was the 4th driest and the 6th warmest on record. Despite a smattering of rain, so far August didn't provide any reason to think it will get much wetter.

The long-range forecast from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration suggests September through November will also be warm and dry. NOAA's outlook for January through March is also warm and dry relative to seasonal norms.

If it's raining as you read this, be thankful, but don't be fooled.

CAT OF THE WEEK

Meet Marvin! Little Marvin has been through a lot, but he doesn't let it get him down! He was placed in a loving foster home where he quickly healed and received lots of love and attention. In his foster home Marvin got along great with their senior cat and small dog. His foster mom says he is just about perfect! Marvin is so affectionate and loves to play, but is also an easy going, relaxed boy!

Dave Jayne
"The Outdoor Insider"

The days are cooler now, and many anglers prefer to fish in these temperatures rather than the heat of summer. Fall days are often clear and calm, and there are many great options available to anglers this time of year.

My brother in law Tom Verschuren and I headed up to Banks Lake on Friday. This is one of our favorite things to do. We'll fish for walleye, and if they aren't biting we will switch to bass fishing. We launched at Northrup and drove the boat over to Barker Flats. When we arrived, I discovered that I had left my walleye box at home. We always bring some bass rods and tackle along when we fish Banks, so no problem. We ran over to the far side at the southern shore of Barker and went to work. We started off casting three- and four-inch Senkos in the watermelon with black and red flakes and were catching fish right away. I decided to switch to Zoom lizards in the same size but the green pumpkin color and had even better success. We like to fish for bass off the shoreline opposite the boat launch at Million Dollar Mile, but when we approached the point at the main lake, we saw that the wind had kicked and wanted to stay in the calmer water. I ran the boat further up to an area that we hadn't tried before, and we were glad we did. Smallmouth were abundant here and eager to hit our lizards.

Most of the smallmouth were half-pounders but we did get a few larger fish. I hooked the biggest fish of the day, and instead of netting it, I tried to hoist it into the boat by grabbing the line. Guess what, it broke the line. I had a counter along and decided to keep track of the number of fish we caught and released. When the counter hit 50 we packed it in and headed for home. What a fun way to spend a day! This week's photo is of a typical smallmouth from Banks.

I had planned to spend a couple of days on Omak Lake last week, but the forecast for high winds prompted me to cancel the trip. The forecast for the coming week doesn't look good and I may have to cancel again. I have fished this Colville Reservation Lake several times in the fall and have had some spectacular days. The Colville Tribe typically plants 40,000 cutthroat in Omak Lake every year, so I know there will be plenty of fish waiting for us. The launch at Nicholson (Beer Can) Beach is very rough, but I managed to put my 20 foot Smoker Craft in the water here. There is a large bay just around the corner from the launch, but I often just make the run down to the bottom end of this 10 mile long lake to start fishing.

I look for about 100 feet of water and am not surprised to see the depth sounder screen loaded with marks. It is not unusual to see a lot of the marks at a consistent depth, which is usually the thermocline. I will put my downriggers down either right in the middle of these marks or just below them. I like to run a variety of plugs and darting lures and the rods are bouncing all the time.

My friend Jim Passage brought a fly rod along last fall and put his flies on a sinking line out the back of the boat in a holder, and he was very busy. You can flatline plugs or spoons and catch fish this way, too. We had fished the afternoon the day before and had caught and released over 20 fish in a few hours. We had done about the same the next morning. I noticed some large marks right off the bottom, so I dropped my rigger right on top of them. I had a large darting plug on the line and the rod started bouncing almost immediately. I popped the line off the clip and before we released the fish we measured it. It was a 28 incher.

Another Colville Tribal lake that I have fished many times is Buffalo Lake, which is just ten miles from the town of Coulee Dam. It is a very pretty place to fish and gets very little pressure. It is known for great trout fishing since it gets generous plants of rainbow. This spring it received 2,000 1.5 pound rainbow, 5,000 ½-pound rainbow, and 250 7-pound triploid rainbow trout! The fall fishing for kokanee can be terrific here and the lake is also loaded with largemouth bass. I would like to make a trip or two to Buffalo Lake this fall.

Rufus Woods is also a good bet for the fall. The Colville Tribe released 45,000 triploids in the reservoir, starting in February this year. The fish averaged around 2 pounds when they went into the lake, so many will be 4 to 6 pounds by now.

There are some great options available to anglers here in Central Washington right now. The Hanford Reach fall salmon fishing is just taking off, with a sharp increase in catches recorded in the past week. Last year, the walleye fishing on Potholes Reservoir was terrific, and I can't wait to get down there to see if I can repeat the great catches of really nice fish this fall. The fishing for smallmouth and largemouth bass is also this time of year, and the big bluegill and crappie also go on the bite. Another fishery that is just getting going is the sturgeon fishing on Lake Roosevelt.

You can learn about all of these fisheries along with some great tips on what to use and where to go by getting a copy of my free E-Letter. In the Fall issue I touch on fall salmon fishing, with links to some great videos. I also mention the walleye fishing on Potholes Reservoir with photos of my favorite rigs. Included is a link to a video on fishing for sturgeon on Lake Roosevelt. You can get all of this for free by logging onto www.FishingMagician.com and click on the Free E-Letter button on the Home Page.

Weather can be a factor when trying to plan fishing trips this time of year, but there will be plenty of sunny days this fall for some great days on the water!

5 TIPS TO HELP SELL YOUR HOME FAST THIS FALL

Part 1

Spring gets all the attention when it comes to homebuying. However, homes sell year-round. And despite the headlines, millions of existing homes are sold monthly. So, if you need to quickly sell your home this fall so you can go enjoy your new home, consider the following tips:

#1. Manage Holiday Décor

One of the joys of homeownership is personalizing your space. Homeowners tend to liven up their spaces at or around October in preparation for Halloween. However, dramatic outdoor displays, loads of fake cobwebs or collections of pumpkins crowding the entryway may "scare off" potential buyers. The same general principle applies to any fall décor.

#2. Maintain Curb Appeal

You'll want to ensure your house looks inviting as soon as potential buyers catch a glimpse of your home. Make sure your house number can be read from the street and remember to keep your sidewalks clear, with all fall leaves raked up.

#3. Light it Up

As winter approaches, it starts getting darker outside earlier. If prospective buyers tour your home in the early evening hours, ensure there is as much light as possible, so the house looks warm and inviting. Consider adding floor lamps in the darker areas of your home or ask your realtor for staging recommendations.

Selling your home in the fall doesn't have to be a headache. With a bit of preparation, you'll soon be settling into your new home. For more information on buying and selling a home, contact the Central Washington Home Builders Association or visit www.CWHBA.org.

WEEKLY Horoscopes for Sept 28 - Oct 4

ARIES – Mar 21/Apr 20

Aries, a project you thought would be done quickly is taking more time than expected to be completed. Don't fret over it too much, as things will work out in the end.

TAURUS – Apr 21/May 21

There are just a few obstacles that you need to get past before it is smooth sailing for a bit, Taurus. Use these roadblocks as learning opportunities as you go along.

GEMINI – May 22/Jun 21

Gemini, when someone approaches you saying they have a good deal for you, there are certain questions you should ask before moving ahead. It's important to get all the facts.

CANCER – Jun 22/Jul 22

Others might start asking questions about your whereabouts if you take too many days off from your job, Cancer. While you don't necessarily have to explain yourself, it's helpful if you do.

LEO – Jul 23/Aug 23

Leo, if someone already has made up their mind about something, it's unlikely that you will be able to change their way of thinking in one day. Keep at it if it means that much to you.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22

Virgo, if you really ponder how you have been interacting with others, have you been completely honest? You might think you're getting away with something, but others see the truth.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

Libra, money is a major driving force behind a lot of decisions, but it shouldn't be the only one. You may be taking on too much if you are working yourself to the point of exhaustion.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22

Scorpio, you continue to roll with the punches, despite things not going your way just yet. Don't worry, your break is out there. The timing is just off for now.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21

Sagittarius, you might be the topic of conversation this week, as others are all figuring out what they can do to be in your good graces. Try not to play favorites in this instance.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20

No one knows which side of you they will get during an interaction, Capricorn. That can make business or family interactions challenging. Try to be more open.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18

Aquarius, you have been managing a lot of extra tasks and could be feeling the added stress from the work. Tune out for a few days to rest yourself and restore your mind to calm.

PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20

Pisces, you want to be everyone's friend and go along with any plan that comes your way, but you might have to be a little bit more firm in your choices moving forward.

36TH FALL CLASSIC IS SEPT. 30, OCT. 1 AT TRI-CITY RACEWAY

Largest Stockcar race on the West Coast converges at the most demanding 1/2 mile asphalt racetrack in the USA.

West Richland, Wash. — Rescued from a racetrack destined for demolition and moved to another brought back to life three years ago, Tri City Raceway at Red Mountain Event Center in West Richland will stage the 36th running of the Fall Classic Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 in West Richland, Wash.

The unique ½ mile tri-oval at Tri-City Raceway, which had been closed and gathering desert dust since 2004, reopened to stage the 2021 Fall Classic, which had been run at Yakima Speedway since 1988. Yakima Speedway was sold and demolished in 2021 to become an industrial site along Interstate-82.

The track is part of what is known as the Red Mountain Event Center which is envisioned to be a multi-faceted tourism engine for the city — and the Tri City area as a whole.

The 2021 race was an instant hit and has sold out seating both then and in 2022. Event and ticket information can be found by visiting www.redmountaineventcenter.com.

In excess of 130 teams competing in six classes will come to Tri Cities for the race presented by Desert Food Mart and Cougar Cafe. Over $100K in total prize money is up for grabs over the weekend.

"I can't believe both are to up 40 cars, it's the largest so far," spokesperson Laci Walden wrote in an email regarding the dual late model fields.
