HEROES OVERSEAS INC.

Non-Profit Organization in Service to our Troops

A Non-Profit Organization in service to our Troops since 2013 - 100% Goes to Our Heroes! WE SUPPORT OUR TROOPS!

WHO WE ARE

- ★ We fundraise and send Christmas care packages to Our soldiers overseas for the holidays, and to a lesser extent needed requested items year 'round!
- ★ We can't forget our Heroes and need your support!
- ★ We learned over the years that we can help more than double the number of soldiers with a better volume of products if we send orders via direct online with free shipping to the APO Addresses because of the higher shipping costs at the USPS for international shipping.
- ★ If you have a loved one serving overseas, e-mail us their information so we can get Care Packages to them first. We will serve Local Heroes first!

Now Collecting Items for CHRISTMAS 2023!

- ★ Due to the delay in international shipping, we will have our open Event this Year as early as Nov. 19th and 20th from 2pm until 6pm

The mild weather throughout the region is a blessing for those who traveled over the Holidays. For those who live in Eastern Washington, or visited here, it made it easy to get outdoors and enjoy the opportunities for fishing. This is something I always looked forward to when I lived on the west side of the mountains, many years ago.

The weather has been so mild that I wondered if the weeds had died off and cleared out of Rocky Ford Creek. Until the weeds that choke the creek clear out, it is impossible to catch anything on this fly fishing only water. I really like to fish this mile-long stretch of flowing river in the winter. It never freezes, as it comes from an underground spring that keeps the water warm enough to remain ice-free even in the coldest temperatures.

I figured the best way to find out if the weeds were gone is to run down there and see for myself. I did just that last Thursday afternoon. I found that there was plenty of weed-free water, so I rigged up my favorite Mini Leech and Ultra Scud combo and went to work. I have a 10 foot, 5 weight rod that I got especially for fishing Rocky Ford. The stream is lined with cattails, and you have to keep your back casts very high to avoid hooking your flies in them, and the extra-long rod seems to help.

There was very little flow, and my line wasn't getting any drift at all. I like to see my line moving with the current to cover more water, without having to make a bunch of casts a few feet apart. I usually know if the fishing is going to be good right away. I made a bunch of casts and moved around, and nothing touched my flies. I wasn't seeing activity on the surface and the other anglers I saw on the far bank weren't hooking any fish.

I finally saw the tell-tale wake of a big fish moving upstream, just under the surface. I tried to judge the direction and speed of the fish and made a cast ahead of the wake to a spot where I thought the big trout would see my fly. My line settled on the water and--Boom! My line jolted tight, and a big fish came out of the water and made a violent, swirling splash—and spit the hook. I made a few more casts, but it was getting late, so I headed for the truck.

That's Rocky Ford. It can be exciting and frustrating. I have had double digit days here, and others, like this one, when I felt lucky to hook a single fish. Even though the fishing was slow, I am eager to go back. This week's photo is of a Rocky Ford trout, about to be released, taken on a sunny winter day a couple of years ago.

I have talked about my shore fishing experiences quite a bit recently. The winter is when I do most of it, as there are some really good opportunities that don't require a boat, and mine is tucked away for the snowy months. Pulling a boat around in the winter can be difficult, too. Snowy road conditions can be bad, and navigating a truck and trailer can be hair raising. The stuff they put down on the roads is tough on boats, too. It etches the aluminum and eats the wiring. I can still have a ton of fun in the winter, catching a variety of fish from the shore. The trout fishing is very good on Lake Roosevelt at Spring Canyon, Crescent Beach, and Keller. Rufus Woods Reservoir is famous for producing whopper rainbow from the shore. I have caught some dandies at Brandts Landing and at the middle net pens. Medicare Beach on Potholes Reservoir is another place where people catch nice rainbow casting from the shore until it freezes.

I had a blast the other day catching perch from the shore on Moses Lake, which is really good news. The perch fishing near the I-90 Bridge just hasn't been any good for many years. It's great to see it coming back, and that may also mean there will be good ice fishing for perch when Moses Lake freezes.

A shore fishery that is gaining in popularity is for whitefish on Banks Lake. I've been told that whitefish make up fifty percent of the bio mass in Banks, so there's no shortage of them. Right now, people fish from the dike at the very top end of the lake. They simply cast with a weight on the bottom and a couple of small hooks baited with "salad" shrimp. These fish are often weigh 3 pounds or more. They are great just fried or smoked.

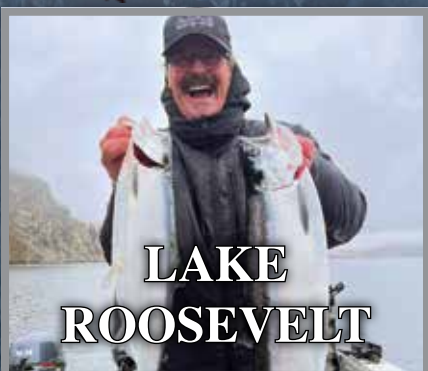

As many of you know, I came home with a bucket of perch a while ago, and I decided to do something different with them. Usually, I dredge the fillets in Panko and fry them, or even just sauté them with a little garlic and butter until they turn white. Sometimes I have even just steamed the fillets, cut into chunks, and then dipped them in butter. They are very delicious any of these ways. This time of year, I like to make soups and stews, so I thought I would try making a perch chowder. I used a base of cream of celery soup and added onions, potatoes, and red peppers. I used some garlic powder, dill and few other herbs and added whole milk to thin it a bit. It simmered for about an hour, to let the seasonings go to work and the veggies cook. Then I added the perch. It only took about ten minutes for the perch to cook, and the chowder was ready to serve. It turned out great.

I plan to take advantage of the continued mild weather and try some of my favorite shore fishing spots. I'll let you know how I do!

Heating Safety

There is something about the winter months and curling up with a good book by the fireplace. But did you know that heating equipment is one of the leading causes of home fire deaths? With a few simple safety tips and precautions you can prevent most heating fires from happening.

BE WARM AND SAFE!

- Keep anything that can burn at least three-feet (one metre) away from heating equipment, like the furnace, fireplace, wood stove, or portable space heater.
- Have a three-foot (one metre) "kid-free zone" around open fires and space heaters.
- Never use your oven to heat your home.
- Have a qualified professional install stationary space heating equipment, water heaters or central heating equipment according to the local codes and manufacturer's instructions.
- Have heating equipment and chimneys cleaned and inspected every year by a qualified professional.
- Remember to turn portable heaters off when leaving the room or going to bed.
- Always use the right kind of fuel, specified by the manufacturer, for fuel burning space heaters.
- Make sure the fireplace has a sturdy screen to stop sparks from flying into the room. Ashes should be cool before putting them in a metal container. Keep the container a safe distance away from your home.
- Test smoke alarms at least once a month.

Heating Equipment Smarts

Install wood burning stoves following manufacturer's instructions or have a professional do the installation. All fuel-burning equipment should be vented to the outside to avoid carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning.

Install and maintain CO alarms to avoid the risk of CO poisoning. If you smell gas in your gas heater, do not light the appliance. Leave the home immediately and call your local fire department or gas company.

FACT

Half of home heating fires are reported during the months of December, January & February.

PRESTON BROCK: HERMISTON RACEWAY 2023 STREET STOCK CHAMP

Preston Brock, the man under the helmet.

"Our championship battle was nothing short of exciting," Hermiston Raceway's 2023 Street Stock top driver Preston Brock wrote in an email.

The Prescott, Washington driver said, "We had several great battles on the track, and I raced tight all year against my dad who is second in the points standings." David Brock was 91 points back in this racing version of "Family Feud."

Brock had several main event wins, but was also consistently able to make all of the races at Hermiston Raceway this year. "It was exciting to see the growth in the class, and hopefully that continues into next year," Brock added.

As far as Brock's history in racing, "I have wanted to race as long as I can remember. As a young kid my dad raced super stocks and late models at Hermiston, so I grew up around it." Brock raced go carts at TCKC at Horn Rapids as a kid. He has run street stocks for 3 years now and looking forward to 2024.

By trade, Brock is a dry land wheat farmer in Walla Walla County, but "considering the top speeds of tractors and combines, racing at Hermiston is extra fun," he said.

Brock offers a lot of thanks to people who gladly support his hobby.

"I would like to first thank my wife for understanding the late nights in the shop, and everything she does to contribute," he said. "I would like to thank my mom and dad for helping me get into such a sport."

"Thanks also to my grandparents, my aunt, and my wife and kids for being there to cheer on every race. Thank you to our crew in the pits: Tylor, and Christy for being there to help every race day."

A huge thanks to Quality Petroleum Inc in Walla Walla for their continued support and sponsorship. "We buy fuel from them to keep our farm running, they are always competitively priced and one of the only places I know of that offers non-ethanol gas around Walla Walla," Brock said.

Brock also wanted to extend a big thanks to Paws for Friendship therapy dogs for the continued support as well.

QLISPE RACEWAY TRACK SURFACE IS RE-GROUND

While the off-season has Qlispe Raceway Park quiet from the sound of revving engines and smoking tires, another noise has been present in the past few weeks.

Track operations manager Ben Zimmerman reports on behind-the-scenes improvements that ought to please racers.

"We hired TVC to come and surface grind the drag strip," Zimmerman wrote in a Facebook message. "They are taking out the bumps and low spots so the track is as smooth as it can be. Just one of the many upgrades this facility needs."

Spokane County purchased the track in 2007 and leased it to Bucky Austin who rebuilt much of the track surface in 2008.

"Bucky did basically a complete redo of the surface," Zimmerman said. That included a 1/8-mile concrete launch area and then he overlayed the asphalt past that.

Austin provided a very good base to work with but over the years the earth moves from frost and natural things. "This gives us a restart to a smooth surface. The work for me and our crew will come in the spring, cleaning and repainting and laying new rubber down," Zimmerman said.

"The current white appearance is nothing more than the raw concrete, not snow," Zimmerman explained.

Watch this page for other developments and Zimmerman also suggests following his personal Facebook or the Qlispe

Raceway news and info page for updates.

Qlispe Raceway Park is the former Spokane Raceway Park established in 1974 and purchased by Spokane County in 2007. It was then purchased by the Kalispel Tribe in 2022 and is set to operate a second season under the tribe in its 50th racing season in 2024.
