Gemini, if a suggestion goes against your instincts this week, give it careful consideration nonetheless. This person may have some good ideas that you may not have thought of.
- CANCER – June 22/July 22
Cancer, you tend to be good about not letting work life bleed into your personal affairs. However, this week you may need to have some carryover to accomplish all that lies ahead.
- LEO – July 23/Aug 23
Some good news may arrive this week that will put you on cloud nine, Leo. Just don't let this enthusiasm distract you from getting all of your business wrapped up on time.

People who believe they have a lot of power are going to be all around you this week, Sagittarius. Don't fall prey to any intimidation tactics. Continue to do your own thing.
- CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20
Dreams have been entertaining and awfully vivid lately, Capricorn. But you can't put too much stock in them. They may simply be your subconscious mind trying to work through things.

Express gratitude when you are gifted something both thoughtful and expensive, Aquarius. This is something you have had your eye on for some time but never purchased yourself.
- PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20

THE CITY OF SPOKANE VALLEY HIGHLIGHTS

10210 E. Sprague Ave. | 509-921-1000 | SpokaneValley.org

YOUR CONNECTION TO THE CITY COUNCIL

Recent Updates...

Spokane Valley City Council - January 30, 2024

The single action item on the Spokane Valley City Council agenda was the appointment of new members to the Spokane Valley City Planning Commission. City code directs that "...members of the Planning Commission shall be nominated by the Mayor and confirmed by a majority vote of at least four members of the City Council." Commission members serve without compensation for three-year terms. Earlier this year, a commission member resigned leaving an unexpired term of approximately one year.

The motion to confirm the appointments of John Robertson and Justin Weathermon to three-year terms beginning January 1, 2024 and ending December 31, 2027, and Vadim Smelik to a one-year term beginning January 1, 2024, and ending December 31, 2024, passed 5-2 (Merkel, Wick-no).

Spokane Valley contracts with Spokane County for its Public Safety. That broad category includes its police, prosecutor, judges, and public defenders, among other services. This evening, Larry Haskell, Spokane County Prosecutor, presented a summary and analysis of what the $400,000 the City pays to the County for prosecutorial services in the public safety contract actually buys.

Spokane Valley is a 'Contract City.' The City contracts out many of the services requiring specialized departments and/or large staffs such as its police force which it contracts with the Spokane County Sheriff. In its latest agreement (2023) with the Sheriff's Office, the City has 91 dedicated officers together with 37 commissioned officers shared with the County. There are other positions included in supervision that may cause that number to fluctuate.

There are six patrol districts in the City, and the police are required to provide a minimum of one patrol officer per district on duty at all times. That number has, in current circumstances, been difficult, and at times impossible, to achieve. A recent study completed by a consultant hired by the City has recommended that 25 dedicated commissioned officers be added to the City police force, plus three shared commissioned officers and two civilian administrative positions.

Police Chief Dave Ellis recommends that the additional officers be added in increments of 8-12 positions starting in 2024 and moving through 2026. The total estimated cost to reach full staffing is $6.2 million. That figure does not include expenses that will be incurred in improving facilities to accommodate the increased staff.

The City has budgeted $35,250,000 for public safety in 2024. Law Enforcement is designated for $29,627,000 of that amount. In 2023 the deputies' union reached agreement on a new contract to steadily 'catch up' on past wages and increases over the next few years to bring wages on par with surrounding jurisdictions. That change signals a rising cost, not currently addressed with any dedicated funding source from the City. While recognition is given to the critical need for additional law enforcement personnel and facilities, a new source of funding must be found in order to make any substantive changes possible.

Discussion on suggested funding measures included a property tax levy lid lift which had no support from Council. A utility tax also found no interest among Council members. What did garner interest was an increase of 0.1% in the sales tax. Such a tax would result in an estimated $2.8 million based on 2023 sales tax collections. A sales tax increase would also gather funds from non-Valley citizens who shop here.

Other outside factors such as rising homelessness and drug-related crimes add to a pressing need for additional officers. A national 'defund the police' movement has caused the attraction to law enforcement as a career to decline. That movement has served to not only make a career in law enforcement less desirable but has also increased the danger to individuals in the profession.

This issue is vitally important and will be the focus of the City's newly created Public Safety Committee. That committee will be reviewing the available information and issues related to developing a strategy to guide Council for moving forward. One aspect of the committee's work will be establishing 'listening sessions' in the community to gather citizen input. The problem requires a multifaceted solution involving all affected parties and individuals. Anyone wishing to participate should be watching the City website, www.spokanevalleywas.gov, for more information.

Spokane Valley City Council meetings are once again held in City Hall, 10210 E. Sprague Avenue, on Tuesdays, commencing at 6:00pm. City Hall is open for regular business during normal business hours (8:00am to 5:00pm). The Public is invited to Council meetings to participate in action items or public comment periods in person or via ZOOM. Call 509-720-5000 or www.spokanevalley.org prior to 4:00 p.m. for access instructions. Council meetings are broadcast on Comcast channel 14.

DOG OF THE WEEK

Meet Zeus! Zeus is a social butterfly! Zeus is a big, active boy and might not be the best fit for senior citizens. He also has shown signs of resource guarding so a home without young kids would be best. He should not be around cats or small dogs. Zeus loves playing soccer or going on walks for daily exercise. He enjoys riding in the car, especially if it means you're headed to a new adventure!

OPERATION DOG TAG

OperationDogTag.org

In my opinion Operation Dog Tag is the best form of PTSD treatment. I have tried just about all the tricks doctors, family and spiritual leaders had to offer. I have been at the give up point many times feeling like nothing I try will ever return me to my old self. This program is not just another medicine to try, it's not group or individual therapy, it's not painful PTSD treatment making you re-live your combat experience with a head doc. It's a tool and powerful weapon fighting off your PTSD symptoms. From the moment I met my new dog Shelby, partner in life and new battle buddy, I had high hopes. The strong bond that can develop between a Veteran and the right dog is REAL. Shelby is the first thing in this world that has a pulse that I was able to start trusting and count on after the war. Every training session pulls me out of the dark isolation places like the couch and gets me motivated to take my new buddy into town, see daylight and give me a big enough emotional high to get me through the week until the next class. ODT changed my life and it can change yours or someone you know that suffers. Try this new tool towards your own personal recovery, I challenge you, because it is possible to be the old you again.

Chris Carson E-6 Ret. Iraq, Afghanistan, 4 tours USAF, 2000-12

A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR OF OPERATION DOG TAG

Operation Dog Tag is a non-profit organization dedicated to training dogs for combat Veterans. Then in turn, training those Vets to train other dogs for other Vets. Having a dog has been proven to help with rehabilitation & many Veterans in our area are in desperate need. The Veterans are given these dogs at no cost. So please help us help our Veterans by donating to:

Pointman Int'l Ministries
(DBA Operation Dog Tag)
Joe Scheffer, Director
PO Box 1892, Deer Park, WA 99006
509-276-4364 (leave message)

Dedicated to all men and women who served in combat and their families who love them. Operation Dog Tag wishes to educate the community of their purpose and asks for help in aiding the returning Veterans along with the ones that are already struggling at home.

And we Veterans thank you as we continue "Making Man's Best Friend Even Better For A Veteran"

"The Outdoor Insider"

The warmer weather we are experiencing throughout the region has made it easier for most folks to get back outdoors. Ice fishermen are disappointed, though. There are only a couple of lakes, that are at high elevation, that still have safe ice. I am sure it will be cold again, and the ice will form. Until then, I hope to get out to some of my favorite spots and take advantage of the warmth and even some sunshine.

My plan for last Thursday was to run down to Rocky Ford Creek to fish for big trout with my fly rod. The weather was going to be warm enough that my line wouldn't freeze to my guides, and I hadn't done any fishing for way too long. Then disaster struck. My wife went into our garage, which is actually a storage area, and found water on the floor. I went out and started mopping up, and we soon figured out that we had a major problem. The radiant heating system had frozen, broke the pipe and cracked the concrete surface. No amount of mopping was going to keep up with the water coming up through the floor. So, we spent much of the night moving things that could be damaged, which are still stacked in our living room. Plumbers came to our rescue and did the needed repairs, and I was able to go fishing on Friday.

When I arrived, I was the only rig in the upper parking lot, but two other anglers arrived shortly after. Usually, the best part of my day on Rocky Ford Creek is landing the first big rainbow. Last Friday was different. The two anglers I met in the parking lot was the best part of my day. First to arrive was Kelly Rupp, from Snohomish. He was a real fan of fishing Rocky Ford, and he was waiting for his friend Ron Romig, from Kettle Falls. These two meet to fish the Ford regularly, but it had been two years since the pair had been able to make the trip. When Ron rolled into the parking lot, it was a quite a scene as the two friends greeted each other. I could tell that they shared a lot of history and some great times together. Ron walked over and said that he was a long-time follower of my reports and E-Letters, and we had communicated several times over the years, and he was glad that we would finally meet face to face. Before I left I caught up with the pair and got to learn more about the kinds of fishing the two of them love to do. One of the places that they raved about was Twin Lakes on the Colville Indian Reservation. I haven't fished this lake for years. I may even join them for a day there next spring. This week's photo is of the two anglers I met at the Ford last Thursday.

These two anglers like to fish the very top end of Rocky Ford and cast dry flies to the big trout that are milling around above the bridge. I like to fish well below here. I find places to cast at the edge of the reeds. This makes casting very difficult, and I have to track my fly down in the reeds when I hesitate too long and let my back cast fall. I think I have better luck in these areas, though, as I don't think many anglers will put up with the hassle.

Well, my theory didn't pan out so much. I didn't get a bite and didn't see a fish rise all day where I was fishing. This was very unusual. Typically, I at least see some fish when I step up to the bank. Nobody was home on this particular day. Since I need to find something to blame on my poor success, I will blame the full moon this time.

If you keep your eyes peeled you can see some interesting things in the winter. I sometimes take a detour on the way to the post office in Leavenworth and spot a small flock of turkeys on the road to the ski hill. I saw them earlier this week in the same place, and later in the week in a completely different location. This particular flock has been around for years, and I have seen them numerous times. There seems to be about a dozen in this group. A couple of days later, as I was approaching my driveway I saw another flock of turkeys. There were about 20 of them. I have never seen this bunch before. They hung around in our side yard, and as I walked along the house to get closer look at them I found tracks clear around the house into the front yard. Also, we have a doe and two yearling mule deer that are in our yard year-round. They are quite used to us, and one even licked a chunk of ice in my hand last summer. I am now seeing other deer bedded down in the orchards as the snow has become very deep here in Leavenworth.

The spike in ice fishing activity at Fish Lake and the Columbia Basin was short-lived. The severely cold weather was followed closely by warm weather and thinned the ice to the point where it just isn't safe. I am getting reports that the same is true at the lakes that are at lower elevations in Okanogan County. I visited Fish Lake on January 20th, and there was enough safe ice to provide good fishing for over sixty people that I saw there at that time. However, on the following Monday I talked to someone that had actually fallen through the ice on Fish Lake. The ice is shrinking back from the shore and there is slush and water on the surface of most of the lakes now. Both Curlew Lake and Bonaparte Lake in the northern part of the state had very thick layers of ice on them and it would take a lot of warm weather to thin the ice to unsafe conditions, and I will be monitoring these as best I can.

I am really looking forward to a planned trip to Rufus Woods Reservoir. My friends have invited me along to try for big triploids and walleye at the upper end. Wish us luck!

PURCELL PREMIUM PELLETS

Go to www.PurcellPellets.com
To Find a Dealer Near You

HOW WE MAKE THE PERFECT PELLET...

The process begins with RECYCLED tree by-products.

Only the highest quality, PREMIUM SELECT wood shavings & sawdust are used

Next, the shavings go through a series of augers which chops them into smaller sawdust...

This allows the sawdust to more efficiently go through THE DRIER

At this stage, MOISTURE is driven from the wood fiber to ensure clean, consistent, hot burning pellets, that far exceed industry standards.

Through heat and pressure, 100% NATURAL wood fiber is formed into a Super Premium Wood Pellet

RESULTING IN...

THE PERFECT PELLET!

BENEFITS:
Less than half the ash of others means less mess!
Low moisture content means much higher BTU output!

DO YOU HAVE TO RENT TO A CRIMINAL?

Those in the real estate industry who manage rentals are careful to adhere to Realtor® ethics and especially state and federal fair housing laws that prohibit discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status or national origin. However, property managers can still be selective when it comes to the prospective tenant's ability to pay.

In the past, property managers also routinely screened tenants based on criminal convictions in order to avoid renting to someone who may put their property or other tenants at risk. That practice, while discriminatory, did not violate state laws because criminals were not considered a protected class. But times have changed when it comes to that practice!

Under the reign of the current governor's administration and more particularly Washington's attorney general, Bob Ferguson, discriminating against criminals is illegal. Bob Ferguson interprets and enforces that portion of state and federal law such that he brought legal action against property managers who eliminated potential tenants based only on the fact that the tenant had a felony on their record. His logic is that because there are statistically more people of color with felonies on their records, a policy that prohibits all felons has a disproportionate impact on people of color, thus violating the Fair Housing Act.

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, said, "Blanket bans on renting to felons or people with criminal histories had a disproportionate impact on black and Hispanic people, who are arrested, convicted and jailed at higher rates than their white counterparts."

Because of that reasoning, Washington requires it's landlords to consider a criminal history only as grounds for asking additional questions, such as to the nature of the crime, when it was committed, what the person has done since that time, whether they fulfilled their sentence, whether they have participated in rehab programs and of course, what their recent record shows.

If the landlord's decision is not a fair reflection of the prospective tenant's past, then they may be out of line with the current AG's interpretation of Fair Housing Laws and subject to similar censor such as the property managers who were defendants in the AG's prosecution several years ago.

Recent legislation has significantly lengthened the amount of time it takes to evict any tenant, making it even more difficult for landlords. It is wise for any landlord, rich or poor, to be up to speed on landlord tenant laws. Has the compassion pendulum swung too far?

ERIC WOLFE - QLISPE RACEWAY 2023 PRO ELIMINATOR CHAMPION

Eric Wolfe can trace his drag racing roots back to not far after what was then Spokane Raceway Park — now Qlispe Raceway — opened in 1974.

But it was not until 2023 that he won his first track championship with the title in Pro Eliminator. Wolfe parlayed a couple on event wins into securing a 292 to 240 edge over T.J. Loper.

Racing two classes, Pro and Sportsman, Wolfe said. "In sportsmen this year, I just couldn't do squat," he lamented.

However, "In Pro it fell the right way, I won," Wolfe said. "I think I was in three finals in a row and won two of them, so it was pretty decent."

Wolfe, who actually lives in Fife, Washington near Tacoma and commutes to race in QRP's Summit Series, first began racing at age 16 in 1980 while a student at University High School in Spokane Valley.

"I remember that was back and when we had (classes like) Run Tuff and stuff," Wolfe said. "So yeah, there's just good times." Wolfe raced then with and against classmate and best friend Bruce Nickerson, and still does.

Like many, Wolfe raced until family obligations got in the way in 1987 and took a hiatus until 1999. He competed for about a dozen years, hanging it up once again in 2011 only to come back again a decade later.

While no relation, Eric Wolfe used to race against a very stout competitor, Henrietta Wolfe, at Spokane Raceway in the 1980s.

"Henrietta kicked my ass at one of the AHRA World Finals, I think it was (19)87?," Eric said. "That's why I retired," he suggested.

Wolfe not just raced at Spokane but also Walla Walla's eighth-mile track. The convenient part for him is his car was stored at his mother's house in Spokane which cut down the expensive towing just a bit.

And talk about a dedicated racer, Wolfe

would leave work on Friday, drive to Spokane, pick up his car and drive to Walla Walla, drive back to Spokane, unload and head to the west side for work on Monday.

It was during that time Wolfe recalled one of his memorable outings in the 2009 NHRA Division 6 ET Finals Race of Champions at Woodburn Dragstrip in Oregon. It was an all-Spokane final round where Dave Oien prevailed.

But Wolfe got the better of Oien in 2023 who finished fourth in the Pro standings.

"I came back because of racing friends just giving me grief," Wolfe explained.

It's been a good couple of years for Wolfe who claimed 2021 Walla Walla Sportsman championship. There he raced against another QRP 2023 champion, Brian Jennen who claimed this year's Qlispe Sportsman title with Wolfe landing seventh in those standings.

That road trip to Washington wine country was quite demanding for Wolfe so he was excited when the Kalispel Tribe purchased the track from Spokane County in 2021.

"It was killing me," Wolfe said. "When the 'Q' (Qlispe Raceway) opened up, I was really happy. It was just bonus to do good in Pro (Eliminator) this year on the hill," he added referencing the nickname for the Airway Heights racing complex.

Wolfe turned 60 this past December and works for Dow Jones. He has grown kids who both like hot rods and his youngest races every-once-in-a-while.
