"The Outdoor Insider"

April has started with wonderful weather. You need to get your new fishing license if you want to get out on the year-round lakes, to practice for the general opening of the lowland lakes trout season, which is the fourth Saturday of April. Meanwhile, there are walleye and bass to fish for. They are starting to wake up on our area reservoirs.

When I want to know what's happening on Potholes Reservoir in the early spring, I can always call Shelby Ross. If there are walleye to be caught he will know. There are a lot of anglers that look forward to the walleye fishing on Potholes and they will be glad to hear that fish are being caught. Shelby put eleven walleye in the boat recently and he noted that they were all males. He figures the big females are spawning and won't be feeding for a while. He said there are a few anglers jigging for the walleye, but he prefers to troll spinners and bottom bouncers. That way he is covering more water. I was fishing with my friend Brian Neilson in his boat. It looks like we were in Lind Coulee, which is a great place to start on Potholes in the spring. I often find fish in the Coulee and then just out of the mouth of the Coulee at Perch Point.

I talked to Nic Alexander, one of the organizers of the Banks Lake Triple Fish Challenge, the other day. He was busy getting sponsors for the event, and rattled off the names of several companies that were already providing prizes. There are always plenty of great things being awarded to those who are winners in the derby. Whether they are winners or not, the kids always get something for being a part of the event. The Banks Lake Triple Fish Challenge starts on Friday, April 12th, with lots of things planned for the youngsters. The highlight is the "trout pond" that is set up off the beach at Coulee Playland. Thanks to Pacific Seafoods, the pond is loaded with fat rainbow for the kids to catch. In addition to the trout pond, there will be casting instructions, a s'more station, face painting, gold panning, food vendors and even live music. The fun starts at 1 p.m. and lasts till 5 p.m. On Saturday the tournament begins, and anglers will be out looking for trout, bass, walleye, and whitefish. You can learn more about the Banks Lake Triple Fish Challenge and even register in advance by going to the Reel Recreation website.

Nic Alexander, one of the organizers with Reel Recreation thought it would be fun to make a run at getting a "triple fish" and give anglers some pointers on how to do it. He recruited Austin Moser and me to fish with him to catch a walleye, bass, and trout in the same day. We started our day looking for walleye and Austin took us to one of his favorite areas between Steamboat Rock and Barker Canyon and Nic got a nice walleye fishing with bottom bouncers and spinners. A green sparkly Smile Blade in fifty feet of water was the best lure. With that done we tried for smallmouth bass. Nic directed us to some of the areas he catches smallmouth, on jigs and jerk baits, and we worked our way up to Osborne Bay. We were casting to the broken rock along the highway when a smallmouth grabbed the Senko I was dragging across the bottom. Now we just needed to get a trout. Austin ran out a variety of crank baits on side planers at the very top end of Banks and Nic reeled in a dandy rainbow. Yea! We did it! Better yet, I shot a video of how we did it, and you can find it on the Dave Graybill YouTube channel. Look for the one that says Banks Lake Triple Fish Challenge. It should be at the top of the playlist.

It's April and if you are an avid angler you need to renew your fishing license for the season. Fishing licenses are valid from April 1st to March 31st of the following year. If you aren't in a hurry, and don't plan to fish until the opening of the general lowland lakes season, you can get your license online. Just log into fish-hunt.dfw.wa.gov. Your documents will arrive in about 10 days. I usually go to a local authorized dealer, as I want to get the two pole endorsement and a salmon punch card, which can't be obtained online. I don't get the Discovery Pass, as I buy the Washington State Parks Natural Investment sticker for my windshield. For an annual fee of $80. It is interchangeable between vehicles and covers my parking and launch fees at State Parks. I also buy Colville Tribal licenses and permits. These are only available online. Log onto cct.fnw.com and go to the Licenses and Permits page. You will need to have your driver's license and vehicle license plate numbers to complete the transaction. This week's photo is of Park and Blue lakes.

As many of you know, I am a big fan of fishing on the Colville Reservation lakes.

The Colville Tribe plant fish in Rufus Woods, Buffalo, Omak, and Twin lakes every year, and some of them are real whoppers. The tribe has already planted over 16,000 trout in Rufus Woods and will release an additional 30,000, averaging two pounds, in April and May. Twin lakes will be planted with 7,500 trout averaging 1.5 pounds in April and get 600 rainbow that average 7 pounds the same month. Twin Lakes also offers terrific fishing for largemouth bass. Buffalo Lake will receive a plant of 2,000 rainbow averaging 1.5 pounds in April and 600 trout that will weigh 7 pounds in April and May. Buffalo Lake also has very good numbers of kokanee and a crawfish season from July 1st through September 15th, and they are of exceptional size. Rufus Woods Lake produces triploid rainbow that can exceed 20 pounds and the state record from Rufus is 29.6 pounds. The state record for Lahontan cutthroat is from Omak Lake. It weighed 18.4 pounds.

RESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION OFFERS HIGH PAYING CAREER PATHS

Careers in residential construction are rewarding professionally and financially. Skilled trades such as carpentry or plumbing do not require a four-year degree. In addition, many skills tradespeople do not have to wait to complete training to start earning income. Apprenticeship opportunities in the skilled trades allow students can earn while they learn. Once training is complete, skilled trades professionals have strong earning potential.

According to the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) and a National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) analysis¹, half of the payroll workers in construction earn more than $54,540 and the top 25% make at least $77,030. The BLS publishes wages for more than 400 occupations in construction. Here is a closer look at the median salaries among the highest-paid wages in construction based on the most recent data available².

Plumbers

The median wage for plumbers is $60,070 annually. Plumbers install, repair, and maintain pipes in residential, commercial and/or industrial buildings. In general, plumbers are excellent listeners and problem-solvers. As long as there are complex water systems in and outside of homes, there will be a need for reliable plumbers.

Electricians

Qualified electricians are always in demand. The median wage for electricians is $59,300. Electricians have excellent analytical skills, are adept at diagnosing problems and work with a variety of tools and technology.

Brickmasons

Laying brick is one of the oldest and most respected trades in the construction industry. Masonry construction uses brick, stone, marble, granite, travertine, limestone, concrete block, glass block, stucco, and tile. The median wage for brickmasons is $59,130 annually.

Carpenters

Carpenters are needed in all construction areas and are often employed throughout the entire construction process. Thus, it is one of the most secure jobs in the industry. The best carpenters are critical thinkers who are detail-oriented. Skilled carpenters earn $52,400 annually.

First-Line Supervisors

Seasoned tradespeople have the opportunity to manage people and projects. First-line supervisors play a key role in making sure projects are completed on time and budget. The median wage for an employee in this role is $74,330.

For more information on skilled trade training programs, apprenticeships, and career opportunities, contact the Central WA Home Builders Association.

SPOKANE SPEED AND CUSTOM SHOW RETURNS APRIL 12-14

SPOKANE — The ninth edition of the Spokane Speed and Custom Show rolls into the Fair and Expo Center April 12-14 with some pretty mighty credentials.

Promoter and founder Brian Anderson is proud to proclaim that the 2024 event, founded in 2017, will pack over 400 entries into multiple buildings.

"(It's the) biggest all indoor custom car show ever in Spokane, and biggest all indoor car show in Washington state," Anderson wrote in a text message.

Entries will come from California, Utah, Nevada, Montana, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Alberta and British Columbia. "We even have one from as far away as Florida," Anderson said.

Of special interest to fans might be the following:

- Everything Air Cooled, one room full of VWs of every sort and maybe even some surprise Corvairs?
- Kustoms with a K, let's think... Winfield, Barris, Hines...chopped-channeled and sectioned traditional Kustoms of the 50-60s.
- Pro Street-Street Freaks, big tires, big motors, 70s straight axle big tire street cars to the 80s-90's Pro Street stuff with some modern big tire entries mixed in. Lots of horsepower in one area.
- And the Car Club Display Challenge! Get your club involved and set up a fun themed display of your own and compete with other clubs for the Best Club Display Award. (Availability is limited.)
- Oh...NitroFest!!! Ya' we will have a few cars burning some race fuel, alcohol and nitromethane for you to see, feel and smell both Friday and Saturday. It's an experience!

Headlining the lineup of celebrity guests is Erik Estrada from the 70s TV show CHiPs. Estrada will make appearances all three days and be joined by American Graffiti Candy Clark "Debbie," Charlie Martin Smith "Toad" and John D'Agostino of Celebrity Customs.

This show fills the void left when the Spokane Auto Boat Speed Show closed in 2012. Formed by custom car and racing icons, Orville Moe and Don Wilbur in 1963, "The Spring Spectacular" as it was nicknamed ran for 49 years and jammed the fairgrounds with cars and fans for up to four days.

Moe passed away in 2015 and Wilbur in the fall of 2016.

Anderson is more than just the front-man to the Speed and Custom Show.

His father, Glenn, was a longtime judge at the former show, and Anderson himself followed in dad's footsteps. "I grew up in town and my dad's a long-time car guy and well connected with hot rods and that kind of stuff," Anderson said. Glenn Anderson judged all but the final two shows.

Anderson said he began hanging out and judging the old Auto Boat Speed Show in about 1986.

"By '88 I was a full-fledged ISCA judge on my own," Anderson said, referencing the International Show Car Association that officiates car shows across the globe.

When the Spokane show dissolved there was a hole left in the car community, Anderson said prior to the inaugural event. "I think they are ready for it to come back," he said at the time of the first show.

Like most new ventures there were plenty of growing pains including having a promoter partnership dissolve just as the first show was coming together.

"Before the first of the year I'm the last man standing with this thing," Anderson said.

Anderson said he "Had been jumping up and down waving a flag for six months about a car show and I wasn't ready to quit."

Not long into his run, like everyone else, COVID intervened and cancelled a pair of shows. But it has continued to prosper and grow from the initial 150 entries.

"About any genre of car you can imagine," Anderson said will be included in the show.

Admission: Pre-sale tickets are $12 each and skip the line. General admission at the show is $15.

Pre-sale tickets are available while they last at ANY area Motion Auto Supply locations and can also be purchased via ANY Federated Auto Parts store. Also limited Pre Sale tickets available the three Spokane Northside ACE Hardware stores!
