May GARDENING TIPS

Master Gardeners of Spokane County

PLANT VEGGIES

Daytime air temps are favorable; nighttime temps are getting warmer and so is the soil. Our last average frost date is May 15. Prepare your vegetable beds and get ready to plant tomatoes, root crops, leafy greens & more!

DIVIDE PERENNIALS

Now is a good time to divide perennials that have grown too large for their space or if you want to move plants around your garden. Depending on the plant, there are several ways to do this job.

NURTURE BENEFICIALS

Many insects and other small creatures are desirable to have in your garden. Take special care to provide food, shelter and water. Avoid using broad spectrum insecticides that kill even the good guys!

Dave Johnson
"The Outdoor Insider"

I have seen real improvements in a variety of fisheries in the region. The action has really picked for kokanee, walleye and bass. I have had a chance to get out and sample some of these opportunities and plan to ramp up my activity on the water to take advantage of more of them.

If you are following my reports on my website, on the radio, newspaper and videos, you have heard that the kokanee fishing on Lake Chelan has become hot. The fish aren't big, but it is a ton of fun catching a bunch. It's a great time to get the kids out in the boat for fast action. There are some other lakes that you can find kokanee in, and this is a good time to fish for them. Not far from Lake Chelan is Wapato Lake, just up over the hill from Manson. It is known to produce large kokanee, sometimes 16 inches. The public ramp at the east end of the lake is in bad shape, but small boats can launch here easily. There is another at the Rainbow Resort at the other end of the lake. It is narrow, though. Fish Lake, near Lake Wenatchee, has had kokanee in it for a few years now. You will find them trolling shallow. Deep Lake, at Sun Lakes above Park Lake, may have kokanee up to 14 inches in it this year. There are some other kokanee lakes in the region I will suggest to you in future reports.

When I got a call from my friend Brian Anantatmula about hot fishing for kokanee on Lake Chelan, I immediately made a plan to get up there. Tom Verschuren was eager to join me. We both enjoy fishing for kokanee on Lake Chelan, and this would be his first opportunity to do so this season. We left the launch at Mill Bay, and when we hit 100 feet of water, I turned the boat down lake. We got a couple of fish and kept on moving. When we got to an area below Rocky Point, where we have found fish before, we finally started seeing good numbers on the Garmin fish finder. I adjusted the depth on the Scotty downriggers to just 50 feet, and the back rods to 75 feet with four-ounce lead balls for weight. I found that adjusting the speed on the Minn Kota from 1 mph to 1.4 and then dropping it back to 1 frequently helped tempt the kokanee to strike. Our catch rate soared, and we put 20 kokanee in the cooler. Big numbers of small kokanee that were 8 to 11 inches long have moved into the lower basin on Chelan.

One of my favorite fisheries in the region is for smallmouth bass at Crescent Bar. I have landed some really nice pre-spawn fish early in the month of May. I just stumbled onto this a couple of years ago. I remembered finding lots of smallmouth here fishing with my brother Rick and cousin Greg probably 30 years ago and just decided to give it a try. My brother in law Tom Verschuren loves catching bass and was willing to go along on our first exploratory mission. We had a blast, catching 20 plus smallies. We tried our usual method of creeping up the shoreline on the Minn Kota. I would watch the Garmin for ridges and drops, and we would cast plastics to the shale slides along the shore without success. I was frustrated and about to give up, and I thought, what the heck, let's troll some crank baits and see what we catch. Surprise, surprise, the smallmouth jumped on them! We have gone back a few times and repeated this experience. I just hope I am not too late, and the fish have already spawned. I have heard that it has been good recently. This week's photo is of one of the smallmouth that we have caught trolling cranks at Crescent Bar.

This is the time of year, the flows of the Columbia River vary considerably. It is important to know the conditions on the river before you launch your boat for a day on the water. Both recreational boaters and anglers should have the Currents App downloaded to their phones. The app will give you access to a range of information, like lake levels, river flows and even fish counts. The app is provided by Chelan County PUD, has been recently updated and is free! It has a simple map-based design, and modern look and feel. It has interactive touchpoints for users to find more details about each park, boat launch, river, lake or dam. It also features an easy to find menu with items for lake levels, river flows and fish counts. To learn more about the Currents App and to find the instructions on how to download it to your phone, go to my website at FishingMagician.com and look for the Ready, Check, Launch banner on the right hand side of the Home Page. This app is very important at all times when boating anywhere on the Columbia River near Rock Reach and Rock Island dams. Check it out.

It's hard to make a choice on where to go for some good fishing right now. There are so many great options. Trout fishing on the region's lakes that opened recently should be terrific. There's a couple of places that should be excellent. Park Lake, north of Soap Lake, was keeping trout anglers busy, both from the shore and from boats. Jameson Lake in Douglas County was also producing well with stringers of very nice rainbow from the shore. Near Wenatchee is Beehive Reservoir, and thanks to a generous plant of trout this year, the fishing has been very good. Out of all of the walleye lakes in the region, Mose Lake, as usual, is producing the best catches in the spring. Fishing for smallmouth bass in the lakes has always been good, and from what I have experienced so far, it could be outstanding. I am going to dedicate a few days to smallmouth fishing on Moses Lake. I also plan on giving Banks Lake a try for both walleye and smallmouth bass very soon. Anglers looking for big largemouth bass should find them on Potholes Reservoir. Judging by the numbers we were catching here last fall it should be great this spring.

How to Prepare Outdoor Spaces for Memorial Day Entertaining

Memorial Day weekend is a popular time to entertain. For many, the weekend marks the first outdoor entertaining opportunity of the year, which is certainly something to look forward to.

As outdoor entertaining season begins, homeowners can take these steps to prepare their outdoor living spaces for the first big backyard get-together of the year.

- Break out the power washer. Pressure washing is an important component of spring home clean-up. The warmer temperatures of spring allow water from power washing to dry more quickly, which can decrease the chances that mold and mildew will grow on surfaces like siding. A freshly power washed home also makes for a welcoming entertaining space. A power washer also can be used on outdoor entertaining spaces to remove dirt and debris that built up over the winter. Just make sure to read manufacturer instructions before using a power washer to clean paving stones, decks and outdoor furniture.

- Inspect outdoor furniture. Now is a good time to inspect outdoor furniture if the task was not performed in late fall or early winter before items were moved into the garage or placed in storage. Check to make sure furnishings are still safe to use, addressing any issues before guests come over for a Memorial Day weekend gathering. Wash cushions for outdoor furniture and replace any that might be showing their age.

- Clean the grill. A thorough cleaning of the grill also is in order prior to summer entertaining season. Many homeowners do little or no grilling during winter, so now is the time to give grilling surfaces and the interior of the grill a deep cleaning. Check for leaks if using a gas grill, and scrub the interior of any grease that accumulated last season. Many grilling experts advise lighting a grill and letting it burn for roughly 20 minutes prior to putting any foods on the grates for the first time. Such a strategy allows residual fluids like soap, vinegar and de-greasing products used when cleaning the grill to burn off before food is placed on the grates.

- Inspect the landscaping, too. It's not just seating areas like patios and decks that need some investigation prior to outdoor entertaining season. Take a walk around the landscape and make sure there's no potentially dangerous spots where people could be injured when playing backyard games. Fill in any holes with soil and fresh grass seed, and inspect trees to see if any branches need to be pruned.

Summer entertaining season begins each Memorial Day weekend. Homeowners can take various steps to ensure their outdoor entertaining spaces are comfortable and safe.

MODULAR BUILDING SYSTEMS: OVERVIEW & BENEFITS

What is a Modular Home? The Rise of Modular and Prefabricated Home

Modular homes are the ultimate prefabricated building system. These highly customizable, environmentally-friendly homes are assembled almost entirely off site in a factory setting, saving both home owners and home builders time, effort and money.

Once the main components of a new modular construction are ready — complete with attached walls, floor, ceiling, wiring, plumbing and interior fixtures — they are transported to the home owner's chosen lot and placed on a permanent foundation by a crane. Each modular home is designed and built to meet all state and national building and fire codes, and a local builder does the final work.

Modular Homes are Energy Efficient

Modular homes are green by their very nature. Assembly in an enclosed indoor environment allows them to fulfill key components of green building certifications, including the ICC 700 National Green Building Standard. Opting for a modular home reduces material waste at both the factory and the job site. As a result, the environmental impact on the land and the community where the system-built home is being delivered is lessened. Additionally, modular homes are often more tightly built and thus more energy efficient, which can result in lower heating and cooling costs for the home owner.

Modular Homes Offer Flexible Home Design

While most manufacturers have a portfolio of home plans to choose from, computer-assisted design (CAD) allows limitless possibilities and customization when planning a new modular home. Modular construction allows for a quick turnaround between groundbreaking and occupancy. A typical modular house can be move-in ready in about three months, and more often than not, the finished product is indistinguishable from a site-built home.

Modular Homes Save Time and Money

Designed and constructed to meet or exceed local building codes and allowing nearly 90% of a home to be constructed offsite, modular housing can be built in a controlled factory environment while the building site is simultaneously being prepped.

Most work is done in the factory, so weather delays, missing materials and subcontractor no-shows are all but eliminated, saving time and money, allowing the builder to focus on generating sales and other revenue sources.

Modular Homes Offer Quality Construction

Prefabricated homes in an off-site factory setting allows for more consistent quality due to uniform construction processes, training techniques and inspections. All system-built homes are inspected by an independent, third-party home inspection agency before leaving the factory. Once on site, they are again inspected, this time by a local building inspector. This modular housing meets and often exceeds all requirements of locally-adopted building and fire codes.

LARSON DOMINATES, DEFENDS AT KANSAS
By Reid Spencer, NASCAR Wire Service

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (May 11, 2025)—Last year, Kyle Larson won the spring race at Kansas Speedway by the thinnest of margins—0.001 seconds in the closest finish in NASCAR Cup Series history. On Sunday, after putting his No. 5 Hendrick Motorsports Chevrolet on the pole on Saturday, Larson defended his victory in far more decisive fashion, leading 221 of 267 laps in winning the AdventHealth 400 at the 1.5-mile track. The triumph was Larson's third of the season, tying race runner-up Christopher Bell for most in the series so far this year. The win was Larson's third at Kansas and the 32nd of his career, tying NASCAR Hall of Famer Dale Jarrett for 29th on the career list. "Great car, great execution today, too, for our team," said Larson, who now will start to concentrate on the Indianapolis 500/Coca-Cola 600 double he'll attempt for the second time later this month. Sweeping the first and second stages, Larson now has eight stage wins this season, a record for the first 12 Cup races of a season. His stage sweep was the 14th of his career. Larson now leads the series standings by 35 points over Hendrick Motorsports teammate William Byron, who finished 24th after falling off the lead lap with an early flat tire. The colossal numbers, however, don't tell the full story. At the end of the final 49 lap green-flag run, Larson had to manage his right-side tires, and his advantage over Bell shrank from a comfortable two seconds to just 0.712 seconds at the finish line. Closing fast in third, Ryan Blaney finished just 0.832 seconds behind the race winner. "I was trying really hard to pace myself, because I believe that was our longest run of the day," Larson said. "I'd been struggling a little bit at the end of the runs." Chase Briscoe ran fourth for the fourth time this season. Alex Bowman scraped the wall in the closing laps and held fifth ahead of Ford drivers Josh Berry, Ryan Preece, Chris Buescher and Joey Logano. The race featured seven cautions—four in the final stage—for a total of 37 laps. Elliott led 29 laps, the only driver other than Larson to lead more than four.
